BRITAIN DISLIKES ANTI-RED PACT

Suspicion Of Hidden Terms
Felt In Official Circles

GERMAN-JAPANESE AGREEMENT WEAKENS BRITISH POSITION

London, Nov. 25.

British circles suspect the Japanese-German agreement announced in Berlin goes farther than the published terms indicate. It may, indeed, resemble an iceberg, reaching farther below the surface than above.

Well-informed quarters, however, have no news confirming the reports that the two countries have agreed to a defensive military alliance.

Such a step, if true, would naturally weaken the British position in the Far East.

There appears to be a readiness to credit the reports of a barter agreement, under which German arms will be exchanged for Japanese raw materials.

Taking its published terms alone, it is felt the agreement does not alter the situation, and it is regarded merely as an announcement made for political reasons and confirming the long-standing affinity between the contracting parties. Nevertheless, the agreement is disliked by Britain in as much as it represents a further accretion to the system of blocs representing opposing ideologies, and any such alignment runs counter to British policy, as frequently made clear by Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Minister, and Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister.—Reuter.

Italy Not Affected

Rome, Nov. 25.

The Italian Government is not affected by the German-Japanese agreement, it is stated in authoritative circles.

It is added that no accord exists between Rome and Tokyo, though in some matters their views are nearly identical.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Academic Interest

Washington, Nov. 25.

The United States is only academically interested in the German-Japanese pact, according to the Secretary of State's office.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Italian Adherence

Rome, Nov. 25.

Reliable diplomatic quarters report that Italy's adherence to the Japanese-German pact against Communism is imminent.

The Japanese Ambassador conferred at length with Count Ciano, the Foreign Minister, yesterday and Japanese circles do not deny the possibility of Italy's adherence to the agreement. Italian officials decline to comment.

Local Japanese say there is no question of Japan recognising Italian sovereignty in Ethiopia and Italy recognising the independence of Manchukuo in connection with the anti-Communist pact, but it is believed these mutual acts of courtesy would be preliminary steps to the settlement of Japanese commercial affairs in Ethiopia.—United Press.

Russia's Reply

Moscow, Nov. 25.

It is officially confirmed that Russia's first reply to the German-Japanese anti-Communist agreement has been refusal to sign the Far Eastern Fishing Convention with Japan. The pact had already been initiated and is of great advantage to the Japanese.

It is not expected that any official statement on the agreement will be made at present, as the Soviet leaders are fully occupied with the meeting of the All-Union Congress.—Reuter.

FIGHTING FASCIST BARBARISM STALIN CHALLENGES SOVIETS' ENEMIES RUSSIA MUST BE STRONG

Moscow, Nov. 25.

A bold challenge to Fascism was made to-day by M. Iossif Stalin, President of the Soviet Executive Committee, during a three-hour speech at the opening of the All-Union Congress. He described the new constitution which gives the citizens of Russia the right to vote and which the Congress is to discuss and adopt at its present session.

This new constitution, said M. Stalin, was an indictment of Fascism and would inspire all civilised people fighting for democracy against Fascist barbarism.

The sole amendment he suggested to the draft of the text was the inclusion of plans of organisation of a new communistar for military industries which, he urged, should be made the greatest military machine in the world.

He severely criticised those wanting to deprive priests and former White Guards of suffrage and maligned the Soviet Union was not afraid of any group, since its former opponents had been rendered harmless.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES

The draft constitution, M. Stalin continued, was the expression of already existing conditions, guaranteeing workers work, education and rest. This distinguished it from bourgeois constitutions, since these latter only declared a worker's rights without providing for their realisation.

The Socialist Millennium had already come, he said, because all landlords and capitalists had had their estates expropriated and the exploitation of man by man had been abolished.

Over 2,000 delegates, representing 100 nationalities, including Cossacks, Tartars, Eskimos, Gypsies and Turcomans, heard the speech, which was broadcast throughout Russia.

When M. Stalin rose to address the delegates he was given a tremendous ovation, which continued for 20 minutes.—Reuter.

surprise of the German Government regarding the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the radical, Herr von Ossietzky, just released from a German prison camp.

It is understood the German Government reserves the right to draw its own conclusions from this award, while recognising the Norwegian Government as such is not directly concerned.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

ENORMOUS FRENCH ARMAMENT

Paris, Nov. 25.

The Government is making an appropriation of 10,500,000,000 francs for armaments in 1937, constituting the largest defence budget ever presented in France.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

FRENCH DOCK STRIKE

IN SYMPATHY WITH U.S. WALK-OUT

THREAT OF REPRISALS

Havre, Nov. 25.

French dock workers have struck in sympathy with the United States seamen and have refused to unload the liner Washington and the freighter Collier.

It is learned that the United States Embassy has made representations to the Quai d'Orsay in an effort to get the two ships unloaded.—United Press.

A COUNTER-MOVE

New York, Nov. 25.

The maritime strike has now assumed an international aspect as a result of the walk-out at Havre.

Mr. Ryan of the Longshoremen's Union, has countered with a threat that local longshoremen will refuse to unload French ships at New York.

Meanwhile, the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association has accused Mr. Ryan of "direct sabotage" of the strike, charging him with sending longshoremen through the picket line in direct defiance of every principle of organised labour.—United Press.

LINDBERGH SAFE AT SEALANDS

R.A.F. REPORTS HIS LANDING

Chester, Nov. 25.

Officers of the Sealands Royal Air Force Aerodrome have confirmed that Colonel Charles Lindbergh, who had not been reported for twenty-four hours after taking off from Baldonnel Aerodrome in Ireland, landed yesterday at 4 p.m.

This announcement ended the mystery regarding the noted aviator's whereabouts.

The R.A.F. officers, however, declined to state whether Colonel Lindbergh made forced landing.—United Press.

REBEL FORCES SURPRISED

NARROWLY AVERT LOSS OF TALAVERA

Lisbon, Nov. 25.

While the Nationalists were rushing up thousands of reinforcements to the Madrid front preparatory to a gigantic new offensive, Government militiamen, 1,600 strong, conducted a surprise attack on Talavera, 70 miles behind the rebel lines.

The militia were concentrated at San Bartolomé, 15 miles south of Talavera, and suddenly advanced with batteries of three and four inch guns and shelled their objective for an hour.

They actually gained a footing on the outskirts of the town before the Nationalists counter-attacked and forced them to retreat.—Reuter.

HALF-MADRID LOST

Avila, Nov. 25.

The Nationalist high command has asserted that over half Madrid is either in the hands of the insurgents or rendered uninhabitable by repeated bombardments.—United Press.

SECURITY ZONE

London, Nov. 25.

Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons to-day that General Francisco Franco, the Spanish rebel chief, had informed the British and other Ambassadors in Spain, of the extension by approximately a square mile of the security zone in Madrid, which will include the British and American Embassies and several legations.

TRIBUTE PAID TO JESUIT

GOVERNOR ATTENDS REQUIEM MASS

FOR FATHER DANIEL FINN

In which Hongkong held the late Rev. Father Daniel Finn, S.J., who died in Europe three weeks ago, was the big attendance of distinguished non-Catholic mourners who attended the requiem mass for the repose of his soul in the Catholic Cathedral this morning.

Among them was His Excellency Sir Andrew Calderwood, the Governor, who took his seat with Sir William Hornell, Vice-Chancellor of the University, near the impressive catafalque which was representative of the dignity of the priesthood.

Celebrant of the mass was the Rector of the Cathedral, the Rev. G. M. Spain, who was assisted by Rev. Father Pliego as Deacon and Rev. Father Brookes as sub-Deacon.

The choir was composed of seminarians from the Cathedral and the Regional Seminary, Asperdon, where the late Father Finn was posted.

Also in the sanctuary were clerics from the Jesuit, Spanish, Italian, French and American missions in Hongkong.

Among those present were the Chief Justice (Sir Atholl MacGregor), the Public Judge (Mr. Justice J. J. Hayden), Dr. L. T. Ridge, Dr. G. A. C. Herkis, Prof. L. Forster, Mr. W. Schieffel (Clerk Magistrate), Choy, J. M. Alves, M. Lequin (French Consul), Mr. T. (Continued on Page 18.)

PATROL FIRES ON RED SHIP

Rebel Vessels Guard Gibraltar Straits

SECRET SPANISH NOTE SENT TO BRITAIN

Gibraltar, Nov. 25.

An insurgent trawler fired a shot across the bows of a Russian steamer which was passing through the Straits of Gibraltar from west to east to-night, while about five miles off Europa Point.—Reuter.

MADRID REPORTS TO LONDON

London, Nov. 25.

The Spanish Embassy has handed the British Foreign Office a communiqué regarding the activities of the Italian and German warships in the Mediterranean. The contents of the note are not disclosed.

The arrival of this information has excited interest in view of the rapid accumulation of circumstances apparently leading to an explosive crisis.

Gibraltar reports that several armed trawlers are patrolling the Straits.

The Admiralty has issued an official statement regarding British warships' movements in the Mediterranean, which are described as "routine."

The Admiralty says the cancellation of naval leave at Malta was due to "a gale which made communications between ship and shore impossible."

The Admiralty denies that submarines are accompanying the tender Cyclops to Spanish waters. However, some observers are of the opinion that British ships are moving to the Spanish war zone to impress upon the Spanish Rightists the fact that Britain will not tolerate interference with her shipping.—United Press.

Germany Angered

London, Nov. 25.

Following the Spanish Government's demand that the German and Italian embassies in Madrid should be evacuated within 24 hours, the German press is angrily protesting at reports from Madrid that the German Embassy there was entered and searched.—Reuter.

Embassy Sacked

Home, Nov. 25.

It is stated in authoritative circles that the Italian Embassy in Madrid has been sacked.—Reuter.

Cargo Seized

London, Nov. 25.

The recent seizure of a Norwegian steamer's cargo, when the vessel, the Lisken, was bound from Dundee to Valencia, by armed insurgent trawlers, was the subject of a question in the House of Commons to-day.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, replying, declined to adopt the suggestion that the Government as a maritime power should initiate a protest. He said it was clearly a matter for the Norwegian Government.

The biggest mistake most women make in wardrobe-planning is buying oddments without any relation to a central scheme—

WHEN you're choosing your autumn and winter outfit, stick to essentials. Don't be led away into buying ill-considered oddments ("Such a lovely colour, and only 6/11") without making sure that they will fit in with your colour schemes.

And when you are budgeting out what you have to spend, get the best you can afford, even if you have to have less variety. Good clothes speak for themselves . . . and their wearers.

Treat yourself to a dress that fits you well and is made in good material, and you will wear it for years . . . and you will always feel better in it than in others bought cheaply merely for the sake of the colour or a bit of a change.

The same goes for hats. You won't get tired of one that's really becoming to you (neither will your friends) . . . far better than ringing the changes on three bought for the same money, which may lose their shape quickly, and anyway never suited you too well.

So make up your mind what is the most you can spend on clothes and plan your outfit carefully, allowing as much as possible for each item.

First, choose one of the basic colours — black, navy blue, mustard brown — which ever suits you best, and build your outfit up round it.

Here are some suggestions for a wardrobe which (adapted to your particular style and personality) should carry you successfully through the winter and the social — bug to match.

Afternoon

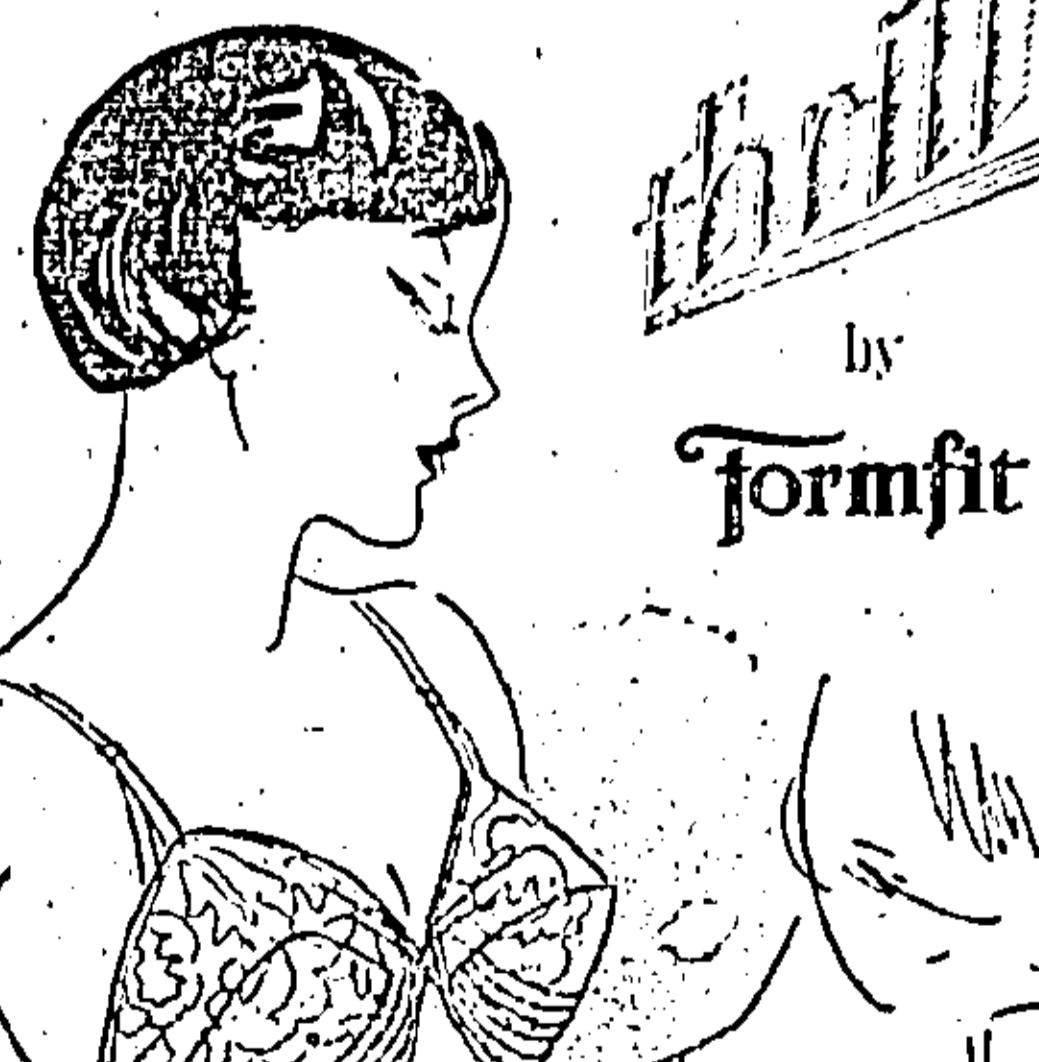

Morning

BLACK two-piece. Dress in close-grained wool, tight-fitting bodice buttoning down the front, flaring full skirt, tucked round the hem. Three-quarter length tunic coat, with long, tight leg-of-mutton sleeves (the fulness should be kept high on the shoulder). On a warm day wear it alone, or with a fur; on cold days with the three-quarter tunic coat.

Sports

YOU must have one plainly cut tweed suit. Double-breasted jacket with a high neck.

patch pockets, skirt cut with fulness going to the front. (Picture 2.)

Made in green and heather mixture check (beware of too bold a check), you can wear it with a tailored sports shirt or a hand-knitted jumper.

A long fitted coat of the same tweed will be well worth its cost, for it will go over any other wool frocks or odd skirts and jumpers as well as with its own suit. It should be full length, fitted at the waist, with big square revers and belt-in belt.

Evening

FIRST of all a perfectly plain black velvet, cut on princess lines with a high waist but no belt. (This new line is particularly becoming to tall women.) Cut rather high in front, low at the back this dress will be invaluable—and if the velvet is good will last for years. Steaming will always take out any creases.

Next—an adaptation of the dinner jacket suit. Made in ottoman silk, hanging stiffly and severely cut, it is in fuchsia colouring. dark dress, lighter jacket. The dress is cut high in front with a square neck. The coat strictly tailored, with wide revers, full sleeves.

And, lastly, for the times when you really want to make a big show, a white crepe romaine cut on Grecian lines with cunningly arranged pleats to give a flowing-but-not-fattening line to the skirt.

Wear this with real flowers, or with coloured accessories (shoes and handkerchief). And if you do happen to have a couple of clips put them on the shoulders. (Picture 4.)

A long gold lame evening coat with fitted waist, flaring skirt, and rather Edwardian air would look lovely over all these frocks. Failing that, a deep fuchsia taffeta would be almost equally decorative. It could be interlined for warmth.

Hats

TO wear with your black high-crowned felt, transformed with a bright quill. For afternoon, a high peaked velvet cap with a loop of velvet ribbon to match the sash on your dress.

For the country, a soft pull-on green felt with a pinched-in crown and trimmed with twisted Peter-

An extra felt to match a jumper or blouse will give you an alternative outfit for the days when you are wearing a skirt with the tunic coat.

POEMS

I will make you brooches and toys for your delight
Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night.
I will make a palace fit for you and me,
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.

I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room,
Where white flows the river and bright blows the bream;
And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white
In rainfall at morning and dew-fall at night.

And this shall be for music when no one else is near,
The fine song for singing, the rare song to hear;
That only I remember, that only you admire,
Of the broad road that stretches and the roadside fire.

R. L. STEVENSON.

PIPPA'S SONG

The year's at the spring,
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hill-side's dew-pearl'd;
The lark's on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn;
God's in His heaven—
All's right with the world!

ROBERT BROWNING.

Is Your Name PRISCILLA?

Symbol: A maiden opening an oaken chest.

THIS ancient name expresses the beauty of home and family life, and the power of femininity to influence all things.

Monday is the day of Fortune, and the best hours of the day are 8 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The luckiest day of the month is the 20th.

White and silver grey are the colours most closely associated with the name Priscilla, but none is wholly disharmonie except the darkest and sombre tints of grey and blue.

Pearls bring you good luck, and contain no trace of tears for you.

Sweet William and rosemary especially belong to you, and these old-world plants will flourish in your care.

Bedtime Exercises

—they'll make you sleep well and keep you fit

IT is a mistake to think that exercises should only be practised in the morning. A few minutes exercise at bedtime is excellent for the sedentary worker and for the indifferent sleeper.

Here are some exercises specially recommended for the evening exercise cult.

STRETCHING (this can be practised in bed).

Raise the arms above the head with the thumbs clasped. Stretch upwards from the waist as hard as possible. Relax. Repeat. Place the arms out sideways and stretch outwards. Relax. Repeat. Place the hands behind the head and stretch from the waist downwards. First, with the toes pointing upwards; then with the toes pointing down. Relax. Repeat.

STAND ERECT but without tension. Heels together. Spine straight. Hands on hips. High-step, bringing the knees smartly up and keeping the toes pointing down. Be sure and hold head level. Repeat twelve times. Relax. Deepbreath.

SAME POSITION. Stretch the arms high above the head. Swing over, keeping the arms at full stretch, first to the left, then to the right side. The lower arm should not drop below shoulder height.

Feet must be kept together, abdomen pulled in. Repeat six times to the left and six to the right. Relax.

SAME POSITION. Raise the arms out in front of the body at shoulder height; palms down. Swing out and behind you, keeping arms at full stretch and at shoulder height.

Turn head in direction of swing, three times, relaxing after each. Return to front position and swing movement, out and behind to the left. Repeat. SITTING UP with the feet wide apart, toes pointing down; arms sideways at shoulder height; spine straight, but without tension. Swing the body round to the right as far as possible without turning the head.

LIE FLAT ON THE BACK. Stretch the arms behind the head with the hands together. Raise the legs, bending the knees slightly. Hold for a second, then let the legs sink slowly to the floor. Repeat six to the left. Relax.

NEW SCHOOLING FOR CHINESE JUDGES

Nanking, Nov. 12. Chin's venerable judges must dust off their books and go to school again, according to a new ruling of the Judicial Yuan. A class in "Special training" has been started by the Judicial Officials' Training Committee, students for which will be drafted from all provinces.—United Press.

TROOPS HUNT U.S. KILLER GANG

New York Nov. 21. AMERICA has gone man-hunting again. A "baby" Dillinger gang in Indiana, consisting of three men who were awaiting trial for the murder of a policeman before they broke jail at Greenfield on Sunday, are believed to be trapped near Lafayette and a cordon is being relentlessly tightened around them.

Roads over an entire county are blocked, all cars are stopped before being allowed to enter the area, and occupants questioned by highway patrolmen.

Nanking, Nov. 12. A shiny new foreign plough is to go to the local farmer who produces the finest cow at the forthcoming Nanking fair, sponsored by the city fathers in an attempt to make the people livestock-conscious.

Owner of the second-best cow will be rewarded with two piculs of improved rice needs. Third prize is a Chinese plough, fourth a pair of spades and fifth a body spray for the prize-winning cow itself.—United Press.

Chinese Girl Tells Of Dope Ring

New York, Nov. 5. "I WAS the dupe of narcotic smugglers," declares Miss Maria Wendt, the Chinese girl who is at Los Angeles awaiting trial on a charge of smuggling £10,000 worth of heroin into the country.

Revelations of the activities of an international narcotics ring, which followed the suicide of N. Loffenholz-Brandstatter, a handsome young Pole well known in Shanghai night life, and the death of Al Stey, formerly superintendent of a German hospital in Shanghai, have stirred the girl into telling her own version of the strange story.

When Brandstatter left Shanghai for the United States, Stey, according to her story, told her to go with him as his nurse, and arranged her passage, but when she got on board she found no patient.

While at sea she received a radiogram from Stey saying Brandstatter would reach the United States before her.

Expressing great surprise at the American Customs agents' story of Stey's death, Miss Wendt said, "I had no idea that 54 pounds of heroin found at the bottom of my trunk had been secreted there."

LONGEVITY VILLAGE DISCOVERED

Shanghai, November 13.

A "longevity village" composed of more than 100 persons, practically all of whom have passed their 100-year mark, has been discovered in the Tating district of Kwelchow province. The oldest resident is 180 years of age and still sells firewood for a living.

ADMIRAL MEETS 1,000 RECRUITS TELLS THEM OF THE NAVY'S TRADITIONS

THE KING'S APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN

Portsmouth, Nov. 15.

Admiral Sir William Fisher, Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth, today inspected 1,000 recruits to the Royal Navy, and talked with their relatives and friends, who had been invited to visit the Royal Naval Barracks here.

Addressing the new ratings, Sir William said that in the Italian and Japanese navies, slogans were displayed prominently before their sailors. No legend or motto was so displayed before British seamen; they were not necessary, and they carried the right qualities in their hearts throughout their service.

"What a place is Portsmouth," said Sir William. "Here you are in the centre of the Royal Naval Barracks, with your future messmates around you. Over there is the Victory, where your forbears, Nelson's seamen, lived and fought.

"Rodney is also there, Victory, the oldest ship in the Navy, and Rodney, the latest, are both there for you to compare the difference."

The tradition of Nelson's day, he added, had been passed on unchanged to Rodney, as to every other ship in the Fleet.

"Whenever the band plays 'God Save the King,'" continued Sir William, "I want you to think of the King. The King is, of necessity, a lonely figure, who stands by himself, with load of responsibility on his shoulders, of which nobody can relieve him. There is nobody in our Empire who has such a knowledge of that Empire, and such a sympathy with everyone in it as the King.

"He appeals to all young men, not because he is King, but because of his energy, fearlessness and spirit of adventure."

P.O. Sleuths Break Up Old Racket

Washington, Nov. 20.

Postal sleuths have now announced breakup of a nationwide "Grimmer racket," through which criminals have swindled the aged and the ailing of more than $1,000,000.

Chief K.P. Aldrich, dean of Federal law enforcement officials, said his men had arrested 17 public enemies, who sold thousands of cheap glasses for $100 or more a pair, who performed fake eye operations in the living rooms of their victims, and who otherwise preyed heartlessly on the ills of elderly farmers and their wives.

"The swindlers specialize on those who are 70 or over," the Postal Inspectors said. "The ease with which they extort large sums of money from their victims is surpassed only by the brutality of their scheme."

The agents described operation of the racket thus:

"Finger men" travel about the country selling eye glasses for all the traffic will bear. One 98-year-old man was induced to pay $100 for glasses worth $3.75. A few weeks later the same impostor sold him another "stronger" pair for $135.

20 PER CENT. COMMISSION

The "finger men" furnish the names of their victims of other members of the gang, known as "specialists" for a 20 per cent. commission on profits yet to come.

The "specialists" usually pose as physicians and frequently bring their women "nurses" with them into the rural communities, where the racket is worked exclusively.

The pseudo-physician examines the eyes of his credulous client, is aghast at the type of glasses sold previously by his confederate, and says an operation is necessary immediately.

HOW IT IS DONE

The Postal Inspectors said this is the way the "operation" is performed:

"The fake doctor has his patient lean back. The head is dropped further backward. An eye drop is inserted into a green opaque glass bottle, heavily corked, and a very few drops of the previous liquid, represented to be radium but actually some patent eye preparation, are withdrawn.

"After these drops are put into the eye, a blunt pair of medicated cotton-tipped medical tweezers are used to rub the medicine around in the eye as an occasional drop is added."

Then, through some hocus-pokus of the vaudeville magician, the "specialist," apparently withdraws from the eye a "malignant growth," which in reality is a piece of rubber brought along for that purpose. He immediately destroys it. Then he places a good pair of eye-glasses on his victim, whose sight immediately is improved. This sort of operation, the agents said, frequently has cost an unwary citizen $800 or $900.

FEEL YOUNG AGAIN

Usually after one of these "operations" on a victim who still has money left in the bank, other impressive-looking members of the gang, visit him about two weeks later and "lend" him a radium belt, which they guarantee will make him feel young again.

The belt is so valuable, they say, that they must have a deposit of $1,500 to insure its safe return. One woman in Massachusetts even paid a $2,000 deposit. She still has the belt, the criminals have her money, and she feels the same as ever.

Of the 17 men arrested—several recently—two have been convicted, while the rest are being held for trial. Other members of the medical gang are being sought.—United Press.

CINEMA NOTES

A beautiful and brilliant woman driven from her home by a town's intolerance is the theme of Warner Bros. new stirring drama, "I Married a Doctor," now showing at the Queen's Theatre. Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson, who played together on the stage and were reunited in the film hit, "Oil for the Lamps of China," are teamed together in the featured roles in "I Married a Doctor." The story is based on the famous novel by Sinclair Lewis, which excoriates the hidebound bigotry of narrow minded small town folk who crucify a woman on the cross of gossip. It is said to be dynamic in its revelation of stultified passions; its biting wit and heart throbbling pathos. But it has plenty of comedy relief. Previously auburn hair registered dark brown in the finished black-and-white film. Even Clara Bow, with her flaming tresses photographed as a blonde. But Haskins, in making experimental tests of Josephine Hutchinson for "I Married a Doctor," hit upon a method to film her beautiful titian tresses more realistically. For back light a sun arc is substituted for an ordinary lamp. The new lighting makes red hair actually look red for the first time. Besides Miss Hutchinson the cast includes Pat O'Brien, Ross Alexander, Guy Kibbee, Louise Fazenda, Olin Howland, Alma Lloyd, Margaret Irving, Grace Stafford and Robert Barrat. Archie L. Mayo directed the picture from the screen play by Casper Robinson.

"Ghost Goes West"

Robert Donat, the handsome young English actor who rose to world fame overnight last season when he was brought to Hollywood to play "The Count of Monte Cristo," makes his latest appearance in "The Ghost Goes West." Alexander Korda's gay romantic comedy which comes to the Majestic Theatre today, Jean Parker and Eugene Pallette head the supporting cast. The story

All the familiar characters of James Fenimore Cooper's immortal classic, "The Last of the Mohicans," come to life on the screen of the King's Theatre on Saturday, in Reliance Pictures' film version of the colourful story. Randolph Scott is seen as the daring frontier scout hero, Hawkeye, and Shirley Barnes as the lovely Alice Munro, while surrounding them, left to right, are Phillip Reed as Ureus; Hugh Buckley as Colonel Munro; Robert Barrat as the Mohican Chief, Chingachgook; Bruce Cabot as Magua, the renegade Huron; Henry Wilcoxon as Major Duncan Heyward; Willard Robertson as Captain Winthrop and Heather Angel as Cora Munro. The film is released through United Artists.

REAL GENEROSITY

Lord Nuffield's generosity, in following up his previous gift of £1,250,000 towards the Medical Research Foundation at Oxford University by a further donation of three-quarters of a million sterling, seems to know no bounds. He has made this additional grant because of his anxiety that the scheme on which he has set his heart should come to fruition with the minimum of delay. The main point which this great benefactor has in mind in giving so freely of his money is to make some contribution towards the relief of human suffering. In order that the maximum results may be attained towards this end, Lord Nuffield has himself stated that "it is desirable for those who work in the field of research to undergo a period of post-graduate training in modern methods of investigation, to keep in close touch with developments in the sciences ancillary to medicine, and to pursue their enquiries unhampered by the cares of private practice and of routine teaching." This threefold aim, it is explained, will be promoted by the establishment of a post-graduate school in Oxford, where Lord Nuffield has already founded an Institute for Medical Research, and greatly increased the endowments and scope of the hospitals. To show how the donor has a keen perception of practicalities, it may be stated that he has realised that special expenditure is likely to be incurred by the hospitals whose co-operation is essential, and he has accordingly made special provision for such expenditure. One of the most important causes of advance of medical studies has been the closer connection between these studies and other branches of science, and it is in recognition of this fact that Lord Nuffield has in mind the co-operation of the scientific departments at Oxford with his school. Not only has he made these big donations, but he has added a big sum to his own appeal in order that the University shall not be prevented by straitened finances from promoting essential services. The gift of £750,000, announced yesterday, came as a great but pleasant surprise to the University, which will now be able to carry on this immensely important side of its activities in a manner which should confer great benefits on humanity. In these days when so much money is being poured into the manufacture of instruments of destruction, it is indeed a happy circumstance that there are men like Lord Nuffield who give so freely of their wealth in order that the fullest benefits of science may be brought to those who suffer.

A little later, on the Catalonian coast further south, a Spanish Government militiaman said: "A British warship came along this coast. We thought that perhaps she had come to shell us."

"But no, she had only come to fetch half a dozen British people. The captain had to come ashore and talk to the committee, and do you know what he carried in his hand? a walking-stick only."

THE incident occurred at a place called Sitges, a small seaside resort that had just been taken over by a Government committee.

When the captain announced his intention of going ashore without an armed guard, he encountered the respectful remonstrance of his officers. He insisted and took his walking-stick. But a ship's boat followed him and kept him covered with a machine gun.

"What would have happened," asked one of the British refugees later, "if the committee had refused to allow us to leave?"

"According to Admiralty instructions," he was told, "our decks were cleared for action, and we were prepared to take British subjects against whatever resistance might have been offered by the Spaniards."

In Marseilles I met another Englishman who had been evacuated from Sitges.

"It was almost fantastic," he told me. "That same evening that we were taken aboard we were all given cocktails and then dinners, with the menu fully written out, and it might have been in a liner."

"All women occupied officers' quarters. Before we landed at Marseilles, the next morning, we were all served with a good English breakfast."

"Then before we went ashore we were asked to pay. Do you know how much? Four pescetas each, about 1s. 4d."

They say it's going to be cold . . .

July 82.0, August 81.7, September 80.6, October 76.2, November 69.4, December 62.9.

But don't imagine that the fifties and sixties are going to be our coldest temperatures. It has been as low as 32 degrees in January, 38.4 in February and 46.4 in March. Our low temperatures were recorded on January 18, 1893.

Every cold spell has a life history. First people to think about it are the chemists. Several had displays of cough lozenges, cold cure, and purple as far back as September.

Next to catch on are the people who get colds themselves. There are one to two million colds during an average winter in Hongkong.

Wise ones stay at home (a sneeze can carry three feet). With plenty of hot drinks, aspirin, doses of salts and purgatives, colds last a couple of days. About a week after the beginning of the cold spell, office managers begin to count up the cost.

You can reckon that every cold costs some one at least $10.

No need to worry yet. Though evenings draw in till December, most of the cold spells come with the lengthening days of the new year. Not too much to say that 95 per cent. of flu cases occur then.

Anyway, a cold spell may be beneficial to you if it gives you a simple cold in the head. That's one of the surest forms of inoculation you can get.

Every cold spell has its epitaph. It usually runs: "To wash 45 handkerchiefs, 90 cents."

130th DAY of the WAR

ON Saturday, July 10, a bugle sounded the fall-in to a garrison of desperate men on the North Moroccan coast. That was at 2 a.m. On Monday the big story broke. Three Spanish Premiers in 24 hours. Cabinet arm workers as rebels, land troops.

Tuesday, July 21.—Government claim victory. "Rebellion is crushed"—but other sources made it clear that war on a grand scale was raging throughout Spain.

July 22.—British warship saves 150 in war zone. Loyal Spanish crew kill insurgent officers. "What shall we do with their bodies?" was radioed to Madrid. Historic answer: "Lower bodies overboard with respectfulness."

July 27.—Terror in Barcelona. Priests dragged to firing squads. A secret courier brought the message, committing it to memory. It began: "Not since the days of the French Revolution . . ." Daily Express airplane, flying Harold Pemberton to Algeciras, scattered Spanish fleet in panic.

July 29.—Submarines battle up Morocco army. Franco rages. (This from Pemberton.) Captives hanged from prison, to execution (Seton Delmer from Burgos). All Britons ordered to leave Barcelona. British pilots offered £150 to fly airplanes to Spain. Daily Express reporter warned our airmen off, but a round dozen went, and three, at least, were killed.

August 8.—British consulate (at Algeciras) wrecked by shell. The consul told Pemberton: "The shell came roaring like an express train; it's wife cut by flying glass." It was all very exciting."

August 20.—Britain will not intervene. "Ban arms" flash to all ports. Also, Madrid Terror, inside story. (But Sidney Smith had to go well outside Madrid before he dared to write it.)

September 5.—510 hostages die as Iban falls. Communists in new Spanish Government. Caballero Premler.

September 9.—Daily Express reported under hanging threat. Arrested as insurgent spy. (Sidney Smith took a risk for a Malaga story, got away with the goods.) Same day Seton Delmer was expelled from Burgos for "derogatory remarks."

September 12.—Priest called to 1,200 in caverns of besieged fort. Gunners hold fire. Mass said in the ruins. The Alcazar had hit Poco One.

September 13.—San Sebastian falls without a fight.

September 19.—Alcazar survivors held out after explosion wrecks fort. Girl troops mowed down in charge of ruins. Mines rock Toledo.

September 30.—Gallagher sends first full story a siege of Alcazar is raised. Women, children live 71 days on horseflesh diet. Dances held in rats of death. Next day: Gallagher sends world scoop pictures of the Alcazar relief.

October 15.—William Forrest telephones: Madrid front crumbling. Desperate task to get militia to fight, and later on, Madrid sacks army chief.

October 21.—Britain appeals to Spain to stop mass slaughter. Navy would save women hostages. Madrid has since replied quite sharply. "Yes, we have no hostages. They are all political prisoners."

October 27.—USSR sends arms ships to Spain. Report on eve of London meeting.

November 2.—Bombardment of Madrid commences.

November 9.—Rebels enter outskirts of Spain's ancient capital.

November 15.—Frightful air raids over Madrid give a taste of what the next world war will be like.

November 20.—Bombs reduce Madrid to a shambles. General Franco declares blockade of Barcelona.

U.S. . .

NOW I write from St. Jean de Luz and still the British Navy is at work. Three destroyers arrived here a few days ago—bringing from Bilbao women who had been held as hostages by the Government.

IN Malaga, which is also held by the Government, a British warship arrives to collect refugees. Half an hour later two Portuguese warships arrive.

Their two commanding officers look at Malaga and then at the British ship. They choose the British ship, go aboard to pay a courtesy visit, and ask the captain: "Is it safe to go ashore?"

And the captain replies in these words exactly: "I really don't know. I am just going ashore myself. If you care to wait until I return, I'll let you know if it's safe."

The Portuguese actually waited. When they did go ashore, they found it was not quite so safe for them as for the British captain.

IN Estepona, a fishing village 25 miles west of Malaga, one of the most unsavoury and overcrowded places imaginable, I was an imprisoned "spy" for three days.

All my arguments and pleadings were merely politely received with no effect until, as a last resort, I mentioned the possibility of a British ship coming to find out what had happened to me. It had been known in Gibraltar that I had left for that district.

That was the first argument which really shook the Esteponans at all.

To that they must have added the fact that it was possible to see dimly on the horizon that comforting shape of the Rock, not more than an hour and a half's fast steaming for a warship.

I was back in Gibraltar within 24 hours.

SOLDIER'S LOVE STORY THROUGH FOUR REIGNS

"MONEY MEANS NOTHING TO ME"

Lord Nuffield On His £1,250,000 Gift

Motor Magnate's First Ambition

Was to be a Surgeon

Lord Nuffield, head of Morris Motors, whose gift of £1,250,000 to Oxford University for medical research has created a record philanthropy, confessed recently that he was a bored man.

Referring to the issue of Morris shares, he said: "I was becoming tired of working for myself, but now I have a new incentive in life—the incentive to work for shareholders."

"One gets to the stage where one has achieved success, and then there is nothing more to do. I don't know if others can quite understand how a man can become bored in this way. I have had only the responsibility of looking after my own money."

"I can honestly say that money means nothing to me. I could just as easily go back to where I started—in a bicycle shop. Perhaps I should be happier than I am now if I did."

"But, having earned the money, I want to see that I use it for the alleviation of suffering, and my opinion is that in medicine and surgery this country ought to lead the world."

BRITAIN WILL LEAD

Speaking of his gift, Lord Nuffield said the money would be available for the University as the need arose.

"Oxford is the finest teaching centre in the world for early medical training," he said. "Under this scheme, medicine and surgery throughout the whole country will benefit to such an extent that Great Britain will lead the world in this sphere."

The crying need has been for teachers and for training after doctors have done their ordinary course.

Under this scheme, at least 20 teachers, brilliant men who have had the benefit of the best teaching, will be available for other centres from Oxford.

"I think the reason for the lack of discoveries in the field of medicine to-day is due simply to this lack of teachers, and that, by supplying teachers, a great era of discovery in medical research may be opened."

The existing medical teaching facilities at Oxford will be utilised under the scheme, but their basis will be broadened under theegis of the new Institute, which will probably be known as the Nuffield School of Medicine."

LOST TO TEACHING

Lord Nuffield continued: "The present position is that a brilliant young student at Oxford usually goes on to a hospital, where he gets his degree, and finally becomes lost to teaching. He becomes so busy going from one case to another that he cannot stop to see the results of his work, and, apart from his own practice, he gets no chance of furthering his own learnings."

The object of the present scheme is to take men from the point where they would become lost to teaching. Their work must be done inside the University, and their job will be to teach other brilliant students. These will receive the best training from successful physicians or surgeons, who, in the past, have practically all been lost to teaching."

"There will have to be a number of Professorships, to be filled by the men in the country. These will be dropping a big income to work at Oxford for a small remuneration, but these men are so keen on their studies that they would prefer to come to the quietude of Oxford, where they can work without being worried by the details of a practice."

Lord Nuffield disclosed that his first ambition in life was to become a surgeon.

"There was not enough money for that," he said, "and so I had to take the next best thing—mechanics. I have found in conversation with many brilliant surgeons that they are mechanically-minded. No man can become an engineer unless he can use his hands, and I wanted to work with my hands."

Lord Nuffield, who said he thinks there can be no better work than the caring for those unfortunate enough to be bad health, himself claimed to be fitter than he has been for many years. His recipe for health is to take rest whenever opportunity offers.

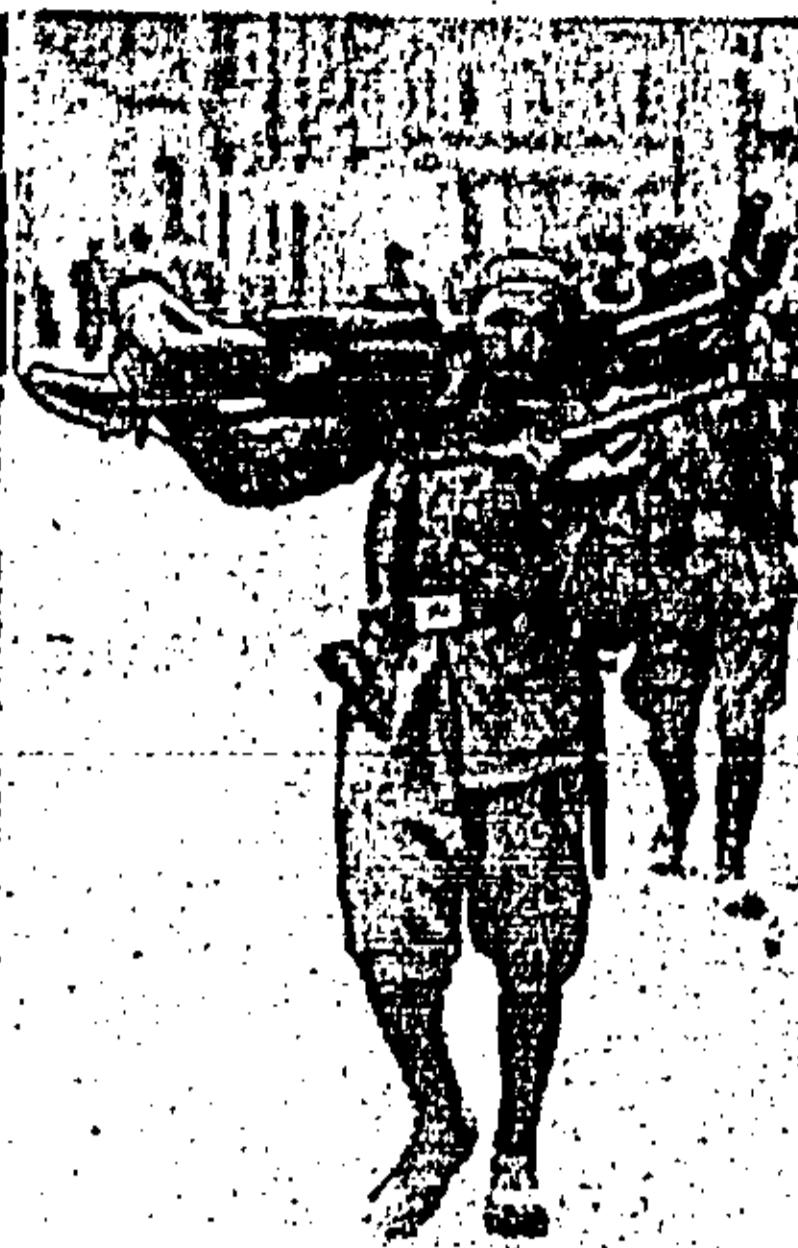

PLAY TIME IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 20.

Mrs. Dan Forlin told police it was all right for youth to have their fun, but that she objected strongly when they started tossing motor cars around—especially in her front yard.

According to Mrs. Forlin, four boys picked up an Austin car from the street nearby, gently eased it over the fence, and dumped it right smack onto her lawn.

The shock, she said, was entirely too much for the grass, flowers and shrubbery—to say nothing of her composure!

Another Island In The News

PACIFIC AIRWAYS

San Francisco, Nov. 24.

Christmas Island is the next tiny spot most calculated to leap suddenly out of the almost boundless reaches of the Pacific and assume an international importance in the public eye, according to information slowly seeping into San Francisco from such faraway sources as Papeete, Tahiti.

Following colonisation of the Baker, Jarvis and Howland islands by the United States as airplane bases in a proposed line to New Zealand, Christmas Island, it is declared, is the next of the Pacific atolls that is calculated to become suddenly important.

Four developments now underway indicate the forthcoming importance of Christmas Island. They are:

1. At the present time a mission from the American Museum of Natural History in New York, aboard the Templeton Crocker yacht, is already at the island for the purpose of the most minute investigations and the reproduction of a small replica of the island for the museum. The results of the expedition are expected to call immediate attention of government to the importance of the island.

2. Two New Zealand cruisers have recently been reported in shipping circles to be looking over the island, presumably from the standpoint of British interests.

3. The island constitutes the next most likely atoll in the Pacific for public scrutiny, because it has not only the necessary lagoon for trans-Pacific flying, but also possibilities of becoming a deep sea harbour if need be.

4. For more than a century the possession of the island has been disputed between United States and Great Britain, and any sudden decision on the part of either to possess the island definitely will result in a final showdown on this point.

Christmas Island was discovered by Captain Cook on Christmas Day 1770, a year following his discovery of the Hawaiian Islands. There are no inhabitants on the island.

Since then it has been claimed alternatively by both the British and the United States as a guano island and leases have been let both to different individuals.

It lies just south of the Hawaiian Islands, just north of the equator and about opposite the Panama canal.

Amongst its other interesting assets is the "Bay of Wrecks" where the jetsam of enough wrecks accumulate to furnish the limited population with all the materials necessary for building purposes. There is also the gasoline supply left for the late Charles T. P. Ulm, trans-Pacific flier who had hoped to cross the Pacific with Christmas Island as an intermediate point.

But the real romance of Christmas Island began shortly after 1880 when Father Rouger, a French priest, conceived the idea of planting it entirely in coconut trees—at a time when coconut oil had a high value. He leased it for 87 years from the British government and at times has had the strong support of the French government.

Their report caused division in the committee.

"Some want to educate the public to enjoy and preserve the onion of onion, which they feel is as pleasing as that of a rose, if you look at it right," Lockwood said.

"Others favour an attempt to popularize the scientists' findings and show the public how to eliminate onion breath."

"A few hold that the onion has been slandered and that what you think is onion breath may be just the bronx, or a fellow who's been running up and down stairs too fast."

At any rate, the committee is going to flood the country with literature and speeches.—United Press.

RUNS Marries The Girl He Courted In 1894

Here is a story of romance in the gentler spirit of the Victorian era. It began when the good Queen herself was on the throne. Through three reigns it languished. Now, with Edward VIII on the threshold of his kingly career, it arrives at the traditional happy ending.

The story opens in 1894, the year that the young Prince Edward Albert Christian of York, now Edward VIII of England, was born.

Private Ernest Angliss, 19 years old, of the parish of All Saints, Coventry, then a sleepy provincial town, was courting—a fine, romantic figure in scarlet and blue.

Mary Ann Gutherford, a maid of 17, was his sweetheart. Soon the wedding bells were to ring.

But the young soldier's parents objected. Marriage, they said, would spoil his Army career. Young Ernest was to see service in India. On his return—perhaps.

So the soldier sailed without a bride. Years passed and he wrote faithfully to his Mary Ann.

On Christmas Eve 1896 he came home, the wedding ring in his pocket. A shock awaited him.

Mary Ann was already wed. His letters had never arrived. She thought he had forgotten her. Her soldier went away and later took himself a wife.

NOW 1936, and a strange new England.

On a summer day in June Ernest Angliss, now an elderly man, followed his wife's coffin to the grave.

By a strange coincidence, on that same day Mary Ann, now a middle-aged woman, stood at the newly dug grave of her husband.

ONE Sunday this month, in the parish church of All Saints, Coventry, an elderly couple were secretly wed. The bridegroom was Ernest Angliss; the bride that same Mary Ann he had courted in the days of Victoria the Good.

ONIONS!

New York, Nov. 20.

The National committee to lift the onion eaten from the category of social leprosy has announced its formation.

The purpose of the committee, created by the National Onion Association, is three-fold:

1. To make it okay to eat onions and take your girl (wife) to the movies;

2. To make it okay to eat onions and go with your boy friend (husband) to the movies;

3. To make it okay to eat onions and go anywhere with whomever you please.

The necessity for such a campaign, the National Onion Association said arises from the fact more onions were raised in the United States this year than ever before, and if people don't eat them a lot will be wasted.

Benjamin Balish, of New York, sometimes called the "dictator" of the onion business because he is about the biggest onion merchant in the country, is chairman of the committee and A. W. Lockwood is secretary.

"Our committee," Lockwood said, "includes 13 of the biggest onion growers and merchants in the United States. We are determined to make onion-eating a universal practice."

"We intend to bring onion-eating into the open. We intend to make this delicious and health-giving fruit available to all by making it socially acceptable."

Two Yale scientists, Howard W. Haggard, M.D., and Leon A. Greenberg, Ph.D., who used a breath-testing machine of their own devising reported in the Journal of the Medical Association that onion breath may be cured by rinsing the mouth with solutions of Chloramine or sodium hypochlorite.

Their report caused division in the committee.

"Some want to educate the public to enjoy and preserve the onion of onion, which they feel is as pleasing as that of a rose, if you look at it right," Lockwood said.

"Others favour an attempt to popularize the scientists' findings and show the public how to eliminate onion breath."

"A few hold that the onion has been slandered and that what you think is onion breath may be just the bronx, or a fellow who's been running up and down stairs too fast."

At any rate, the committee is going to flood the country with literature and speeches.—United Press.

SEMI-FINAL

E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Peacock yesterday advanced to the semi-final of the Colony open mixed doubles tennis championship when, on the U.S.R.C. courts they defeated A. L. Sullivan and Mrs. W. E. Dowling in straight sets of 6-2, 6-1.

The winners held the upper hand from the start, and with Sullivan completely off his game, won the match with the greatest of ease.

Mrs. Peacock was in delightful form and drove powerfully from the baseline, while Fincher volleyed in his customary efficient manner.

The winners want to five-love in the second set and were never seriously extended.

MRS. LITTON IN TWO

Championships

Mrs. J. L. Litton (Miss Enid Lo), former Colony tennis champion has won two matches in the open singles championship and has reached the semi-final.

In the first round she defeated Mrs. P. Ashton 6-1, 6-1 and in the second beat Mrs. K. E. Holmes 6-1, 6-1.

Playing with Mrs. Ashton, she also reached the semi-final of the Colony open doubles, beating Mrs. W. M. Marsh and Miss M. Heap 6-0, 6-1.

Mrs. Litton was also taking part in the Colony mixed doubles championship with her brother, M. W. Lo, but after winning a first round match, they scratched to H. D. Rumjahn and Mrs. Chiu Chun-chiu, who thus enter the semi-final without playing a match. In this bracket Rumjahn and Mrs. Chiu meet E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Peacock.

THE BRAWN CUP
Schoolgirls
Give Fine
DisplayC.B.S. SCORE
FOUR TIMES

On the C.B.S. ground last Saturday, the Central British School "A" girls proved far superior to the Diocesan Girls, winning their Brawn Cup encounter quite comfortably by four clear goals.

The C.B.S. attack made no mistake in front of goal, and were two up in less than 20 minutes. By the time the interval arrived they had established a three goal lead, and were completely in the ascendancy. The scorers in this half were Miss A. Martin, Miss M. Booker and Miss Baxter.

The Diocesan girls were completely baffled by the bustling methods of their opponents, and it took them the whole of the first half to begin to interpret and to counter them. The second half saw a big improvement by the losers, and they instigated several dangerous raids but some very doubtful umpiring decisions robbed them of good openings. Once again the advantage rule was ignored by the officials, and in consequence there was far too much whistle.

Miss H. Bockler, Miss M. Churn and Miss E. Churn worked well together in the latter half of the game, but they were too well guarded by Miss M. McCaw at centre-half and Miss J. Booker at left-half to be very effective.

Miss Martin broke away very smartly ten minutes from the end of the game to register her second, and the Central British School's fourth goal.

Little Miss P. Dodd performed creditably as pivot and received able support from Miss E. Chang at right back. Miss J. Hall, in goal, was a trifle disappointing.

The Central British played well as a team, the Martin, Booker and McCaw sisters being outstanding.

LEAGUE CRICKET

The following have been selected to represent the Hongkong C.C. and XI in a League match against the Police R.C. on Saturday on the town ground:

A. K. Mackenzie (Capt.), C. C. Agnew, V. C. Bond, F. A. Dunnett, E. Bathurst, C. R. Cahagan, G. S. Chambers, R. M. M. King, W. Keith Robinson, W. Stoker and W. Wood.

NEW HOCKEY TOURNEY IS PROPOSED

BY HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

YET another hockey tournament in Hongkong is contemplated. The instigators are the Police, and the proposed title of this competition is "The Services Hockey Tournament," in which the Police will be included as a Services team. It is hoped that the following teams will also participate:

Fleet Lower Deck
Officers, Royal Navy
Battalion teams to include:

One from the Royal Artillery, one from the H.K.S.R.A., one from the Royal Engineers, one from the Royal Air Force, one from the Royal Welch Fusiliers and one from the Royal Ulster Rifles.

This I ascertained in an interview with the Police Hockey Club secretary, Sub-Inspector Tyler, during this week, when he also told me that as soon as the above mentioned teams have been informed of the suggested tournament, a meeting will be called and a committee formed with a view to running the competition.

It is hoped to get the thing organised and started within the next few weeks.

Mr. Tyler further intimated that he had forwarded a letter to the Hongkong Hockey Association about two months ago informing that body of the proposed tournament, but as yet no reply had been received.

I have since had a conversation with the secretary of the Hockey Association who says that when the Police applied for participation in the Inter-Section Tournament a few months ago, they signified their intention of starting a new tourney, but no request for permission to do so had been made to the Association. Hence he did not think a reply was necessary.

Miss Martin broke away very smartly ten minutes from the end of the game to register her second, and the Central British School's fourth goal.

Perhaps it should be pointed out here that according to rules, the running of any tournament in the Colony is within the jurisdiction of the Hongkong Hockey Association, to which all Army and Navy teams are affiliated. Therefore I fail to see how any such tournament as contemplated by the Police could materialise without first obtaining the consent of the Association.

MAMAK LEAGUE

K.I.T.C.
TAKEN BY
SURPRISEBEATEN IN FAST MATCH BY R.C.S.

Displaying splendid combination in attack, the Y.M.C.A. last Saturday defeated the Recreio by two clear goals when these teams met in Caer Clark Cup game. Both goals were netted in the first portion of the game.

Right from the bully-off the "Y" attack got into its stride, and within ten minutes Mrs. Read had accepted a pass from Miss M. Smith and opened the scoring with a fast drive which a Recreio defender deflected into her own goal.

With the exception of two or three breakaways by the Recreio, the Y.M.C.A. had their opponents penned in their own half, and it came as no surprise when Mrs. Read again turned to account a centre from the left wing, beating Miss Barros with a well timed shot.

The second half saw the "Y" still on the attack, but the forwards were not so accurate in their shooting and easy chances were missed by Mrs. Read and Miss M. Smith.

MISS SMITH'S MISTAKE

Twice Miss Smith tried to flick the ball into the net instead of driving, and thus lost valuable chances of increasing the score. Last season she was notable for her goal-scoring propensities, but at the present time she is falling short of previous achievements because she insists upon trying this flick-shot in preference to her customary drives. In view of the results, Miss Smith would be well advised to revert to her old method, as the flick shot, though very effective, is doubly difficult to accomplish.

The Dindal sisters on the right wing worked together in perfect combination and it was rather unfortunate that Mrs. Read allowed so many of their cleverly conceived openings to go astray.

The Signals in turn attacked and the exchanges became faster, with the ball travelling from end to end. Towards the close the Indians applied pressure, but without success.

A. P. Sousa was the best K.I.T.C. forward but was sadly neglected. Had he received the ball often the result might have been different. J. O. Pinto was a hard worker at inside right, and he was unlucky to have his goal-scoring shot nullified for "strokes."

On the whole, however, the Signals were the better side, being much more incisive in attack, and revealing superior stamina.

Tora Singh and Karnail Singh played well in defence for the losers.

Argonautas

Army Team

Another stage in the Inter-Section Tournament will be reached on Saturday next when the Civilians, represented by the Argonautas, meet the Army (H.K.S.R.A.) on the U.S.R.C. ground, bully-off at 3.30 p.m.

Spectators are certain of a sparkling game. The soldiers will be at slight disadvantage in having to play on a turf surface, and they must also expect to find themselves pitted against a very clever team.

I rather think the Civilians will win.—Reuter.

Miss E. Wolley, who has just returned from a holiday in England, will soon be seen in action for the Central British Association ladies' hockey team.

Evansville, Indiana. Max Baer, former heavyweight champion of the world, has resumed his "barnstorming" tour with a swift knockout of Tim Charles, of St. Louis, Missouri.

Charles was down eight times before he was counted out in the fourth round.

Baer interrupted his come-back tour with a brief holiday at his ranch at Livermore, California, during the summer. He is keeping in trim for another try for the world's heavyweight championship.

He hopes to become recognized as a leading contender for the title by challenging and defeating the loser of the Schmeling-Braddock fight next June.

FOOTBALLER EVERY CLUB WANTS TO SIGN

A player whom Arsenal and nearly every football club in the country would like to sign, recently made an important statement to the Sunday Chronicle.

The player is Tommy Walker, the famous Scottish star, and for the first time he disclosed his own personal intentions following the desperate efforts made by Arsenal to sign him.

"I'M HUMAN"

"Would I like to play football in England?" asked the famous Hearts player, for whom a transfer fee of at least £12,000 has been asked.

And then, answering his own question, "Yes, I would."

"If I go to Arsenal it will be because Hearts and the London team have come to a satisfactory arrangement, and I hope an arrangement which will offer me better terms and wider scope."

"A footballer is just a human being, and if he can get more money by changing his firm, like the rest of human beings, he'll do it."

WILL BE A WRENCH

"But if the transfer goes through it will be a wrench to leave Tyne- castle for the Mecca of football."

"And while I say I would like to try English football, I am well aware of the fate that has overtaken famous players who have tried to set the Thames on fire."

"Yet that very fact makes me keen. You know what it means to dare a Scotsum."

Punjabis Defeat Club At Marina Ground

Playing at the Marina ground Kowloon yesterday afternoon, the 1/8 Punjab Regiment defeated the Hongkong Club in their hockey encounter by three goals to nil.

The Punjabis were in fine form and their excellent combination and brilliant stick work featured the game. They won without any difficulty.

Two of their three goals were scored in the first half through L. Singh and G. Singh, and their third and last goal was netted by Lt. Walker, who received the ball from Lt. Genders well towards the end of the second half.

The Club players worked hard throughout the match but they did not seem to be able to hold their own against the Punjabis. Perhaps the hard sandy ground could account for this.

SCHOOL MATCH

D. B. S. JUNIOR TEAM BEATEN BY NINE WICKETS

Playing against the Ellis Kadoorie Indian School yesterday, the Diocesan Boys' School junior cricket team made only 22 runs and were eventually beaten by nine wickets. None of their batsmen reached double figures.

K. M. Rumjahn, with four wickets for nine runs, Saham Singh, with three for nine and Mohinder Singh, with two for three, did the damage. Thanks to an inings of 44 by K. M. Rumjahn, the Indian School passed their opponents' total with the loss of one wicket. They finally scored 93.

C. Mathews took three wickets for 10 runs and A. Lipsley three for 10.

Mid-Week Problems

by Hubert Phillips

IDENTIFICATION TEST

PROBLEM I.

Mrs. Scribbler's daughters were not very successful in their attempts to identify the portraits of famous poets. Mrs. Scribbler had put five portraits on the mantelpiece—those of Browning, Byron, Keats, Shelley and Tennyson—and she invited each girl to write down the names of two of them. These were their answers:

Mabel: No. 2 is Byron. No. 3 Tennyson.

Gertie: No. 1, Browning. No. 2, Shelley.

Diana: No. 3 is Shelley. No. 5 is Browning.

Puss: No. 2 is Byron and No. 4 is Keats.

Sheila: No. 4, Keats, No. 1, Tennyson.

Each girl gave one correct and one incorrect answer.

What number did Mrs. Scribbler assign to each poet?

PROBLEM II.

NUMERICAL CROSSWORD

Each square is occupied by a digit:

1	2	3	4
6	7	8	9
10

Clues: Across

1. Half of clue 6.
2. Three times clue 10.
3. See clue 1.
4. See clue 6.

Clues: Down

1. The first two digits of clue 1 ac., multiplied by the last two digits.
2. Same as 7.
3. Twice the first two digits of 1 dn., reversed.
4. First two digits of 1 ac., reversed.
5. Same as 2.
6. Twice a perfect square.
7. A perfect square.

PROBLEM III.

A DOUBLE ACROSTIC UPRIGHTS

D'you think that, when a that in this is heard,
The this-and-that's are coming?
How absurd!

LIGHTS

1. A youngster—were he given sex-appral.
A measurement in Scripture might reveal.
2. The smallest of the stars is here at call.
But don't be nervous—there's no risk at all.
3. Curious that "little gentleman" whose toll shuffled a monarch off this mortal coil.
4. A king at home here. But, I do not doubt, what's greater than a king must stand without.

Do you know yourself? Here is a new kind of test. Try it out on yourself—or friends. Think over these situations and ask—

What would you do if . . .

a friend, knowing that you detested gambling in any shape or form, had, for a joke, taken out and paid for in your name a sweepstake ticket which won a tremendous fortune? Would you—

- (a) claim the entire amount for yourself?
- (b) claim the money and devote it to anti-gambling propaganda?
- (c) let the friend have it?

you found that a haughty nobleman, a neighbour of yours who always passed you by unnoticed, had fallen into the river and was in difficulties? Would you—

- (a) hurry away gleefully?
- (b) refrain from lending him a hand for fear, since you had not been introduced, you would insult him?
- (c) appreciate that he was the type who would not deign to give you a civil word, but would promptly risk his own life for you if you were in danger?

you were a woman, returning from a lecture on "The Superiority of Women to Men," enthusiastic but slightly fatigued, and found all the seats in the train occupied by men? Would you—

- (a) feel insulted if no one offered you a seat?
- (b) fervently pray that one would offer you his seat so that you might say, "I'm as capable of standing as any man, thank you!"
- (c) be only too willing at that moment to be thought the weaker vessel if only one of them would get up and let you sit down?

you found that a haughty nobleman, a neighbour of yours who always passed you by unnoticed, had fallen into the river and was in difficulties? Would you—

- (a) hurry away gleefully?

Will Seek Contracts In China

KIRKPATRICK TELLS OF HIS PLANS

London, Nov. 25. The recently appointed China Committee of the Federation of British Industries held its first meeting today under the chairmanship of Sir George MacDonogh.

Mr. William Kirkpatrick, British export credit expert, who is soon to take up an appointment to China, addressed the committee and outlined the prospective range of his activities.

The Committee discussed the best methods of co-operation between the various branches of British industry with a view to securing further contracts in the China markets.

It meets again at an early date—Reuter.

Hull Hopes For Peace In Americas

ATTENDS BUENOS AIRES PARLEYS

Buenos Aires, Nov. 25.

A warm welcome was given to Mr. Cordell Hull, the American Secretary of State, on his arrival here to attend the Pan-American Peace Conference, which opens on December 12.

In an interview, Mr. Hull declared he confidently expected the conference to be the means of eliminating the last obstacles to continued peace and prosperity in the Western Hemisphere.

He believed, he said, that the great leaders of the American republics, on the northern and southern continents, were ready to banish for ever the possibility of resorting to armed force.—Reuter.

U.S. FACTORIES FOR AUSTRALIA

FOR MANUFACTURE OF AUTOMOBILES

Canberra, Nov. 25.

Four American motor-car manufacturing companies intend establishing factories in Australia for the production of their automobiles.

Should American cars be produced in Australia, they will be under the Government bounty scheme in which £30 will be paid on each chassis manufactured.—Reuter Special.

RETAIL SALES

INCREASE REPORTED AT HOME

London, Nov. 25.

The Board of Trade Journal states that the money value of retail sales reported for October was 7.4 per cent. above that for October, 1935. Sales expanded in all districts.

Total sales in the nine months February-October, 1936, were 8 per cent. greater than in the corresponding period of 1935. The advance continued to be most noticeable in the South of England and in suburban London.—British Wireless.

OPERA SINGER WEDS

Kansas City, Nov. 25. The opera singer, Mary McCormick, former wife of Prince Serge Mdivani, to-day married Mr. Homer V. Johannsen, wealthy Chicago lawyer.—Reuter.

Murphy (Assistant Director of Criminal Intelligence) and Capt. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C. to the Governor.

FUNERAL ORATION

In the panegyric to Father Flinn, the Rev. Father G. Byrne, S.J., Superior of the Jesuit Order in Hongkong, said the Jesuit Fathers would miss one of the kindest and most genial of companions.

"That the sense of loss has been replaced by others than his intimate associates is testified by the presence in this Church to-day of such a representative gathering of the citizens of Hongkong," declared Father Byrne.

Father Flinn was a classical scholar, concluded Father Byrne. His academic degrees marked him as a distinguished one, and he was a student of art, an educationalist and an archaeologist. But all these things were no more than phases of different activities undertaken by a tireless worker for the noblest of causes, without the inspiration of which he would have dropped them one by one.

It is announced that the Directors of the China Light & Power Co. have decided to recommend to shareholders at the forthcoming annual meeting that the profits for the past financial year, after providing $442,000 for depreciation, amounting (subject to audit) to approximately $865,000, plus $122,000 brought forward from last year, be dealt with as follows:

To pay a Dividend of 50 cents per share on the "Old" Shares and proportionally amounts on the 1936-Issue Shares, absorbing about $834,000.

To transfer to Reserve General Managers' Rights 70,000.

To carry forward approximately 103,000.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE MARKET IRREGULAR YESTERDAY

New York, Nov. 25. S. C. & F. Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market.—The market to-day was irregular and dull. A little uncertainty developed due to the instability of foreign funds here for fear of Government action on speculation. The uncertainty was added to by the foreign war situation coupled with light pre-holiday trading. Bonds were irregularly higher, while stocks on the Curb Exchange were also higher.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment:—Air-line traffic for November is likely to set a new record. Favourite groups for trading purposes are air-craft, merchandise, cinema and rubber issues. There are continued rumours of new financing by the United States Steel Corporation. Bulls argue that cigarette company earnings will be higher this year. Brokers say that there has been no aggressive support for utility shares.

S. C. & F. New York office cables:—Stocks: The market to-day reflects better foreign news and some short-covering.

Cotton: A large volume of December liquidation tenders was readily absorbed by the Trade.

Wheat: The market is steady. There has been a good demand for December position. The foreign markets are firmer, reflecting the prospects of less favourable harvesting conditions in the Argentine.

Corn: The cash position is steady. Receipts and country offerings were light.

Rubber: The market is firm, following better London and Singapore cables. Dealers are reported to be hedging on the upward scale.

BRITAIN DISLIKES ANTI-RED PACT

Suspicion Of Hidden Terms Felt In Official Circles

GERMAN-JAPANESE AGREEMENT WEAKENS BRITISH POSITION

London, Nov. 25.

British circles suspect the Japanese-German agreement announced in Berlin goes farther than the published terms indicate. It may, indeed, resemble an iceberg, reaching farther below the surface than above.

Well-informed quarters, however, have no news confirming the reports that the two countries have agreed to a defensive military alliance.

Such a step, if true, would naturally weaken the British position in the Far East.

There appears to be a readiness to credit the reports of a barter agreement, under which German arms will be exchanged for Japanese raw materials.

Taking its published terms alone, it is felt the agreement does not alter the situation, and it is regarded merely as an announcement made for political reasons and confirming the long-standing alliance between the contracting parties. Nevertheless, the agreement is disliked by Britain in as much as it represents a further aggression to the system of blocs representing opposing ideologies, and any such alignment runs counter to British policy, as frequently made clear by Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Minister, and Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister.—Reuter.

Italy Not Affected

Rome, Nov. 25. The Italian Government is not affected by the German-Japanese agreement, it is stated in authoritative circles.

It is added that no accord exists between Rome and Tokyo, though in some matters their views are nearly identical.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Academic Interest

Washington, Nov. 25. The United States is only academically interested in the German-Japanese pact, according to the Secretary of State's office.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Italian Adherence

Rome, Nov. 25. Reliable diplomatic quarters report that Italy's adherence to the Japanese-German pact against Communism is imminent.

The Japanese Ambassador conferred at length with Count Clano, the Foreign Minister, yesterday and Japanese circles do not deny the possibility of Italy's adherence to the anti-Communist pact, but it is believed these mutual acts of courtesy would be preliminary steps to the settlement of Japanese commercial affairs in Ethiopia.—United Press.

Russia's Reply

Moscow, Nov. 25. It is officially confirmed that Russia's first reply to the German-Japanese anti-Communist agreement has been refusal to sign the Far Eastern Fishing Convention with Japan. The pact had already been initiated and is of great advantage to the Japanese.

It is not expected that any official statement on the agreement will be made at present, as the Soviet leaders are fully occupied with the meeting of the All-Union Congress.—Reuter.

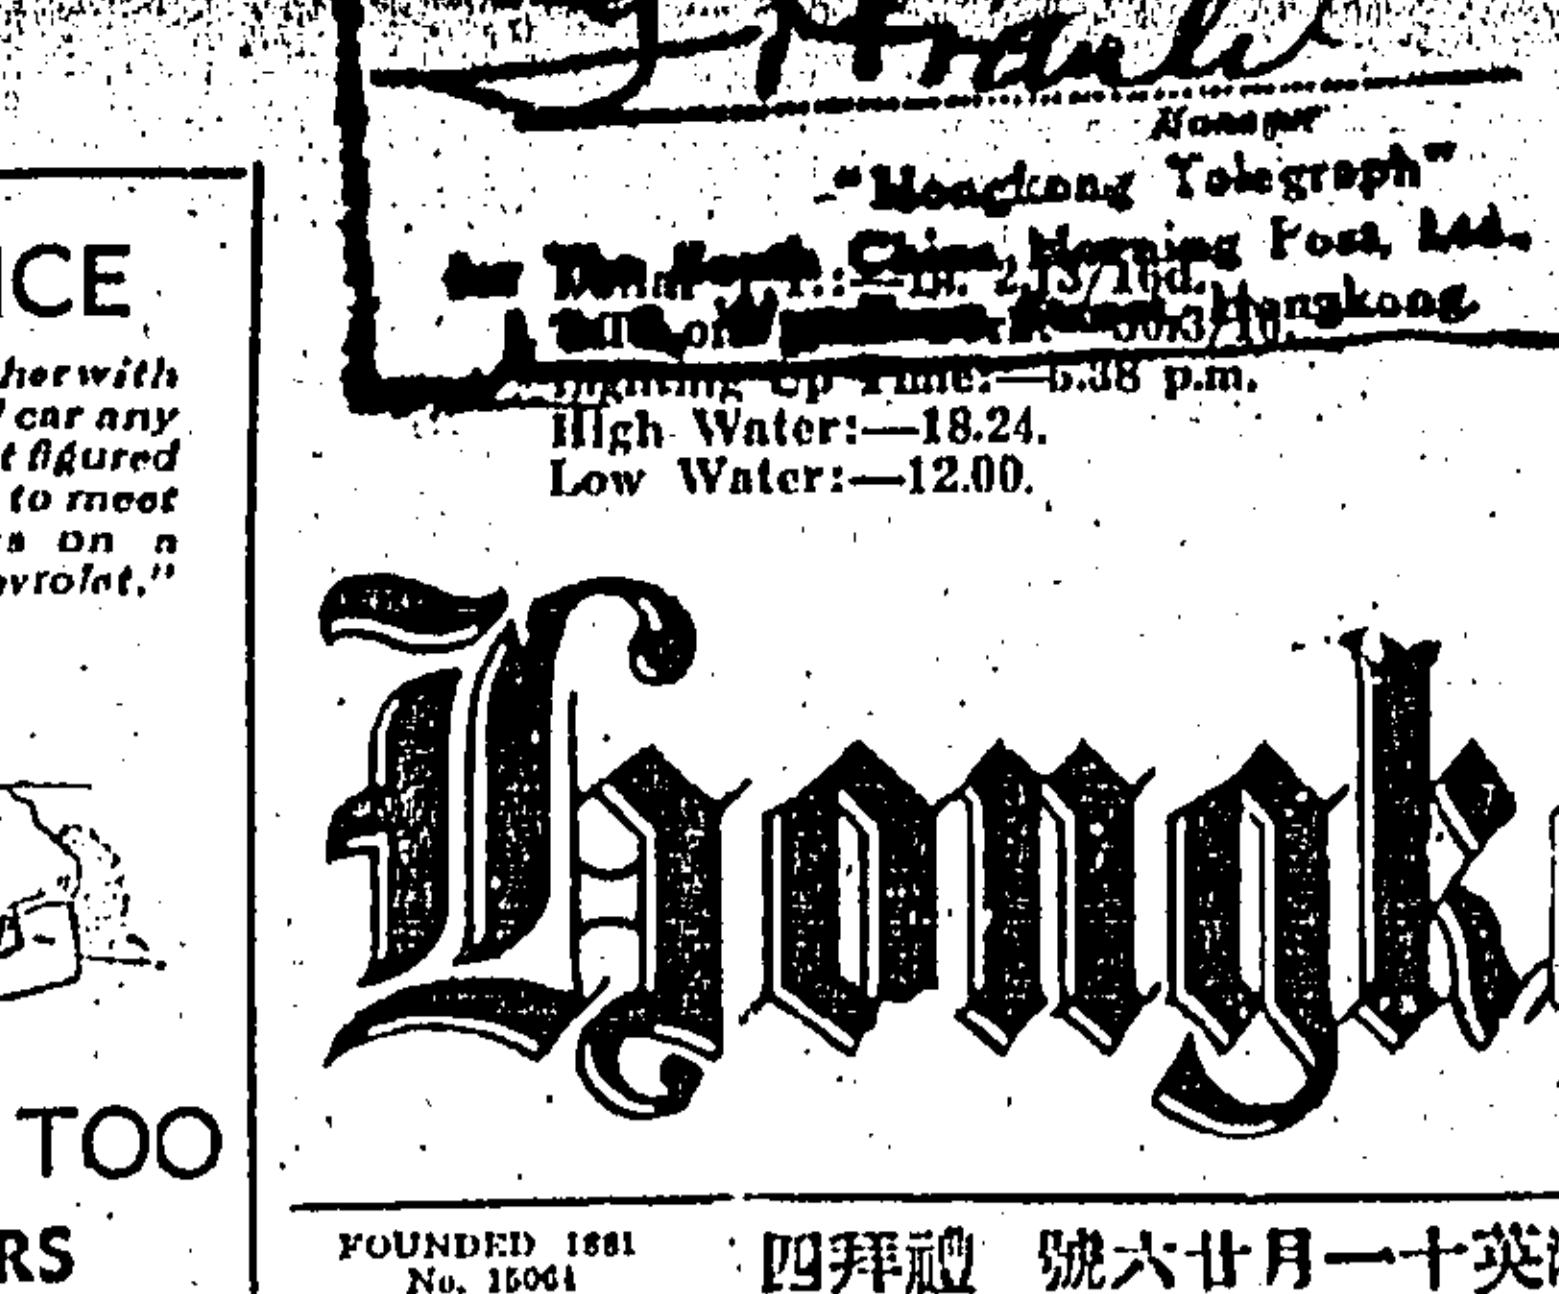

China Reticent

Nanking, Nov. 25. The Foreign Office has not received any official report from Berlin with regard to the German-Japanese Alliance, and is therefore withholding comment at present.

Speaking unofficially, a Foreign Office official said the agreement was obviously not connected with China. However, China might be adversely influenced by any German-Japanese Entente.—United Press.

"Not Anti-Russian"

Tokyo, Nov. 25. Announcing the signature of the Japanese-German anti-Communist agreement, the Foreign Office states that Japan entered the pact because Communism threatens world peace. The spokesman recalled that the Comintern had purposes for

FLOATING WARSHIPS' HOSPITAL

EXPERIMENT IN AMERICA

Washington, Nov. 25. Disclosure of plans for a gigantic floating drydock, which will have a relatively high mobility, has resulted in speculation in international circles that the dock is designed for use far beyond the projected Pearl Harbour base.

The Navy Department reveals such features of the new dock, a pointed bow and steering apparatus, that convince many officials and experts that it is designed for utility in connection with fleet operations, conceivably thousands of miles from Europe Point.—Reuter.

The arrival of this information has excited interest in view of the rapid accumulation of circumstances apparently leading to an explosive crisis.

Gibraltar reports that several armed trawlers are patrolling the Straits.

The Admiralty has issued an official statement regarding British warships' movements in the Mediterranean, which are described as "routine."

The Admiralty says the cancellation of naval leave at Malta was due to "a gale which made communications between ship and shore impossible."

The Admiralty denies that submarines are accompanying the tender Cyclops to Spanish waters. However, some observers are of the opinion that British ships are moving to the Spanish war zone to impose upon the Spanish Rightists the fact that Britain will not tolerate interference with her shipping.—United Press.

PEASANTS GUARD OLD CHAPEL

FEAR ROCKEFELLER WANTS TO TAKE IT

Paris, Nov. 25. The peasants of the village of Chauvry-le-Châtel have established a day and night guard on the Chapel of St. Hubert, the finest example of pure old Gothic architecture in France.

They fear that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, in accepting St. Hubert as a gift from the French Government, is planning to carry it to the United States.—United Press.

Germans Feel Resentment

OVER NOBEL PEACE PRIZE AWARD

Berlin, Nov. 25.

The German Minister at Oslo, Norway, has expressed to the Norwegian Government the great surprise of the German Government regarding the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the radical Herr von Ossietzky, just released from a German prison camp.

It is understood the German Government reserves the right to draw its own conclusions from this award, while recognising the Norwegian Government, as such, is not directly concerned.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Madrid Reports To London

London, Nov. 25.

The Spanish Embassy has handed the British Foreign Office a communiqué regarding the activities of the Italian and German warships in the Mediterranean. The contents of the note are not disclosed.

The arrival of this information has excited interest in view of the rapid accumulation of circumstances apparently leading to an explosive crisis.

Gibraltar reports that several armed trawlers are patrolling the Straits.

The Admiralty has made representations to the Quai d'Orsay in an effort to get the two ships unloaded.—United Press.

A COUNTER-MOVE

New York, Nov. 25. The maritime strike has assumed an international aspect as a result of the walk-out at Havre.

Mr. Ryan, of the Longshoremen's Union, has countered with a threat that local longshoremen will refuse to unload French ships at New York.

Meanwhile, the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association has accused Mr. Ryan of "direct sabotage" of the strike, charging him with sending longshoremen through the picket lines "in direct defiance of every principle of organised labour"—United Press.

Germany Angered

London, Nov. 25.

Following the Spanish Government's demand that the German and Italian embassies in Madrid should be evacuated within 24 hours, the German press is angrily protesting at reports from Madrid that the

2,000 REBELS TRAPPED

Surrounded by Loyal Army in Madrid RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL: SIEGE OF BESIEGERS

Madrid, Nov. 26.

The rebels raised the red and gold standard of the monarchy at Casa de Velasquez on the northern outskirts of the capital after their unsuccessful attempt to rescue 2,000 rebels trapped in the Hospital Clinico, University City.

The insurgent artillery, assisted by bombers, raked the ranks of the loyalists surrounding the hospital, where the 2,000 who came to lay a siege are themselves besieged by the militia of a besieged city. But they could not disperse the militia.

Rebel planes succeeded in dropping packages of food and medicine to the trapped soldiers.

The loyalists continue to hold the model gaol against repeated attacks of the rebels.—United Press.

ATTACKERS SLAUGHTERED

Talavera de la Reina, Nov. 26. Rebels claim aircraft killed by bomb and gun 1,300 of the 2,000 loyalists who delivered a surprise attack on the field headquarters at Talavera.—United Press.

REBEL FORCES SURPRISED

Lisbon, Nov. 25. While the Nationalists were rushing up thousands of reinforcements to the Madrid front preparatory to a gigantic new offensive, Government troops, 1,500 strong, conducted a surprise attack on Talavera, 70 miles behind the rebel lines.

THE MILITIA WERE CONCENTRATED AT SAN BARTOLOME, 15 MILES SOUTH OF TALAVERA, AND SUDDENLY ADVANCED WITH BATTERIES OF THREE AND FOUR INCH GUNS AND SHELLED THEIR OBJECTIVE FOR AN HOUR.

They actually gained a footing on the outskirts of the town before the Nationalists counter-attacked and forced them to retreat.—Reuter.

HALF MADRID LOST

Avila, Nov. 25. The Nationalist high command has asserted that over half Madrid is either in the hands of the insurgents or rendered uninhabitable by repeated bombardments.—United Press.

SECURITY ZONE

London, Nov. 25. Mr. Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons to-day that General Francisco Franco, the Spanish rebel chief, had informed the British and other Ambassadors in Spain, of the extension by approximately a square mile of the security zone in Madrid, which will include the British and American Embassies and several legations.

Mr. Eden trusted the zone would afford safety for non-combatants of all kinds, he said.

Mr. Noel Baker asked if the Government would make reports on such incidents as the alleged submarine attack on a Spanish Government warship off Cartagena, on the ground that such incidents might result in an international war.

Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, replied in the negative, adding that it was vital that the British Government should not interfere with things which did not concern it.—Reuter Special.

EVACUATING EMBASSY

Washington, Nov. 25. The State Department announced to-day that Mr. Eric Wendell, the Charge d'Affaires in Madrid, had advised that he was evacuating the Embassy early on Thursday, with two motor buses and one truck.

It is believed the party will consist of 50, including women, children and Embassy employees. About 100 Americans are remaining in Madrid.—United Press.

CRUISER TO AID

Washington, Nov. 25. The Navy Department has sent a wireless to the U.S.S. Raleigh, a cruiser now in the Mediterranean instructing her to arrange for the evacuation of American refugees from Valencia, where Mr. Eric Wendell, Charge d'Affaires, and the Embassy staff, together with about 50 private citizens, are expected from Madrid to-morrow.—Reuter Special.

The biggest mistake most women make in wardrobe-planning is buying oddments without any relation to a central scheme—

WHEN you're choosing your autumn and winter outfit, stick to essentials. Don't be led away into buying ill-considered oddments ("Such a lovely colour, and only 6/11") without making sure that they will fit in with your colour schemes.

And when you are budgeting out what you have to spend, get the best you can afford, even if you have to have less variety. Good clothes speak for themselves . . . and their wearers.

Treat yourself to dress that fits you well and is made in good material, and you will wear it for years . . . and you will always feel better in it than in others bought cheaply merely for the sake of the colour or a bit of a change.

The same goes for hats. You won't get tired of one that's really becoming to you (neither will your friends) . . . far better than ringing the changes on three bought for the same money, which may lose their shape quickly, and anyway never suited you too well.

So make up your mind what is the most you can spend on clothes and plan your outfit carefully, allowing as much as possible for each item.

First, choose one of the basic colours — black, navy blue, mustard brown — whichever suits you best, and build your outfit up round it.

Here are some suggestions for a wardrobe which (adapted to your particular style and personality) should carry you successfully through the winter and the social round.

Made in green and heather mixture check (beware of too bold a check), you can wear it with a tailored sports shirt or a hand-knitted jumper.

A long fitted coat of the same tweed will be well worth its cost, for it will go over any other wool frocks or odd skirts and jumpers as well as with its own suit. It should be full length, fitted at the waist, with big square revers and let-in belt.

You can wear this for cocktail parties, for dining out unchanged length tunic coat, with long, tight (take the coat off), and if you have leg-of-mutton sleeves (the fullness should be kept high on the shoulder), you can wear any coloured accessories, or real flowers.

On a warm day wear it alone, or with a fur; on cold days with the three-quarter tunic coat.

STRETCHING (this can be practised in bed). Raise the arms above the head with the thumbs clasped. Stretch upwards from the waist as hard as possible. Relax. Repeat. NEW SCHOOLING FOR CHINESE JUDGES

Nanking, Nov. 12. China's venerable judges must dust off their books and go to school again, according to a new ruling of the Judicial Yuan. A class in "Special training" has been started by the Judicial Officials' Training Committee, students for which will be drafted from all provinces—United Press.

TROOPS HUNT U.S. KILLER GANG

New York Nov. 21. AMERICA has gone man-hunting again. A "baby" Dillinger gang in Indiana, consisting of three men who were awaiting trial for the murder of a policeman before they broke jail at Greenfield on Sunday, are believed to be trapped near Lafayette and a cordon is being relentlessly tightened around them.

Roads over an entire county are blocked, all cars are stopped before being allowed to enter the area, and occupants questioned by highway patrolmen.

WOODS SEARCHED

Hundreds of special officers are searching woods and every nook and cranny of farm buildings in the hope of cornering the desperados.

FOREIGN PLOUGH GOES TO BEST COW

Nanking, Nov. 12. A shiny new foreign plough is to go to the local farmer who produces the finest show at the forthcoming Nanking fair sponsored by the city fathers in an attempt to make the people livestock-conscious.

Owner of the second-best cow will be rewarded with two pleats of improved rice seeds. Third prize is a Chinese plough, fourth a pair of spades and fifth a body spray for the prize-winning cow itself.—United Press.

Chinese Girl Tells Of Dope Ring

New York, Nov. 5. "I WAS the dupe of narcotic smugglers," declares Miss Maria Wendt, the Chinese girl who is at Los Angeles awaiting trial on a charge of smuggling £10,000 worth of heroin into the country.

Revelations of the activities of an international narcotics ring, which followed the suicide of N. Loffenholz-Brandstatter, a handsome young Pole well known in Shanghai night life, and the death of Al Stey, formerly superintendent of a German hospital in Shanghai, have stirred the girl into telling her own version of the strange story.

When Brandstatter left Shanghai for the United States, Stey, according to her story, told her to go with him as his nurse, and arranged her passage, but when she got on board she found no patient.

While at sea she received a radiogram from Stey saying Brandstatter would reach the United States before her.

Expressing great surprise at the American Customs agents' story of Stey's death, Miss Wendt said, "I had no idea that 54 pounds of heroin found at the bottom of my trunk had been secreted there."

LONGEVITY VILLAGE DISCOVERED

Shanghai, November 13.

A "longevity village" composed of more than 100 persons, practically all of whom have passed their 100-year mark, has been discovered in the Tating district of Kwelchow province. The oldest resident is 180 years of age and still sells firewood for a living.

Indians Say "Farewell" —and Are Divorced

Billings (Montana), Nov. 20. Red Indians need not go to Reno to get a divorce.

They can end their marriage at any time, quite legally, by simply wishing each other "farewell."

The legality of this ancient custom has just been upheld by Mr. Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, in a ruling received by Mr. T. H. Burke, a lawyer of Billings.

A suit had been brought by a Red Indian in which he claimed the property of his former wife, who had left him for a new home some time before her death. The Indian claimed that he and his wife had been legally divorced in the traditional Indian way.

In his ruling Mr. Ickes said: "Certainly the actions of the party of both participants to the marriage indicate a valid Indian custom, as the defendant lived with several other men and the claimant with at least another woman."—Reuters.

ADMIRAL MEETS 1,000 RECRUITS

TELLS THEM OF THE NAVY'S TRADITIONS

THE KING'S APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN

Portsmouth, Nov. 13. Admiral Sir William Fisher, Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth, today inspected 1,000 recruits to the Royal Navy, and talked with their relatives and friends, who had been invited to visit the Royal Naval Barracks here.

Addressing the new ratings, Sir William said that in the Italian and Japanese navies, slogans were displayed prominently before their sailors. No legend or motto was so displayed before British seamen; they were not necessary, and they carried the right qualities in their hearts throughout their service.

"What a place is Portsmouth," said Sir William. "Here you are in the centre of the Royal Naval Barracks, with your future messmates around you. Over there is the Victory, where your forbears, Nelson's seamen, lived and fought."

"Rodney is also there. Victory, the oldest ship in the Navy, and Rodney, the latest, are both there for you to compare the difference."

The tradition of Nelson's day, he added, had been passed on unchanged to Rodney, as to every other ship in the Fleet.

"Whenever the band plays 'God Save the King,'" continued Sir William, "I want you to think of the King. The King is, of necessity, a lonely figure, who stands by himself, with a load of responsibility on his shoulders, of which nobody can relieve him. There is nobody in our Empire who has such a knowledge of that Empire and such a sympathy with everyone in it as the King."

"He appeals to all young men, not because he is King, but because of his energy, fearlessness and spirit of adventure."

TIN INGOTS STOLEN

TAIKOO DOCKYARD INCIDENT

Caught in the act of taking away six ingots of tin, valued at a total of $1,200, from Taikoo Dockyard seawall on the night of Tuesday last, five Chinese appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate this morning.

The men were Chu Sap, aged 25, unemployed; Chan Hing, aged 25, unemployed; Tong Sun, aged 28, unemployed; and Lam Yuen, aged 40, unemployed, and they were charged with having broken into a godown, with others not in custody, and to have stolen six ingots of the property of Taikoo Dockyard. Cheung Shu, aged 36, coxswain of the steam launch Takkoshing, was charged with aiding and abetting defendants in the theft.

Inspector T. O'Connor, prosecuting, said that about 11 p.m. on November 24, a Chinese watchman on duty on the Dockyard seawall saw seven or eight men carrying something. There was also a steam-launch nearby, and the watchman grew suspicious. He blew his police whistle and raised the alarm, and the men immediately laid down what they were carrying and bolted in all directions. Only the first four defendants were arrested.

Enquiries were instituted and it was found that as store had been entered and six ingots of pure tin, each weighing a hundredweight, had been taken away. The window of the store had been broken open and the iron bars wrenches apart to enable the intruders to enter. When the watchman first saw the men, he noticed that one of the ingots was being lowered from the sea-wall on to the steam-launch. The ingot had been dropped into the water when the alarm was raised, and had not yet been recovered. Divers had been sent down but they could not find the ingot, which had apparently sunk into the mud.

Fifth defendant was arrested later, and it was revealed that he had finished work at 10 p.m. that day, and had no further orders. The

Hull Hopes For Peace In Americas

ATTENDS BUENOS AIRES PARLEYS

Buenos Aires, Nov. 25. A warm welcome was given to Mr. Cordell Hull, the American Secretary of State, on his arrival here to attend the Pan-American Peace Conference, which opens on December 12.

In an interview, Mr. Hull declared he confidently expected the conference to be the means of eliminating the last obstacles to continued peace and prosperity in the Western Hemisphere.

He believed, he said, that the great leaders of the American republics, on the northern and southern continents, were ready to banish for ever the possibility of resorting to armed force.—Reuters.

Will Seek Contracts In China
KIRKPATRICK TELLS OF HIS PLANS

London, Nov. 25. The recently appointed China Committee of the Federation of British Industries held its first meeting today under the chairmanship of Sir George MacDonogh.

Mr. William Kirkpatrick, British export credit expert, who is soon to take up an appointment to China, addressed the committee and outlined the prospective range of his activities.

The Committee discussed the best methods of co-operation between the various branches of British industry with a view to securing further contracts in the China markets.

It meets again at an early date.—Reuters.

REAL GENEROSITY

Lord Nuffield's generosity, in following up his previous gift of £1,250,000 towards the Medical Research Foundation at Oxford University by a further donation of three-quarters of a million sterling, seems to know no bounds. He has made this additional grant because of his anxiety that the scheme on which he has set his heart should come to fruition with the minimum of delay. The main point which this great benefactor has in mind in giving so freely of his money is to make some contribution towards the relief of human suffering. In order that the maximum results may be attained towards this end, Lord Nuffield has himself stated that "it is desirable for those who work in the field of research to undergo a period of post-graduate training in modern methods of investigation, to keep in close touch with developments in the sciences ancillary to medicine, and to pursue their enquiries unhampered by the cares of private practice and of routine teaching." This threefold aim, it is explained, will be promoted by the establishment of a post-graduate school in Oxford, where Lord Nuffield has already founded an Institute for Medical Research, and greatly increased the endowments and scope of the hospitals. To show how the donor has a keen perception of practicalities, it may be stated that he has realised that special expenditure is likely to be incurred by the hospitals whose co-operation is essential, and he has accordingly made special provision for such expenditure. One of the most important causes of advance of medical studies has been the closer connection between these studies and other branches of science, and it is in recognition of this fact that Lord Nuffield has in mind the co-operation of the scientific departments at Oxford with his school. Not only has he made these big donations, but he has added a big sum to his own appeal in order that the University shall not be prevented by straitened finances from promoting essential services. The gift of £750,000, announced yesterday, came as a great but pleasant surprise to the University, which will now be able to carry on this immensely important side of its activities in a manner which should confer great benefits on humanity. In these days when so much money is being poured into the manufacture of instruments of destruction, it is indeed a happy circumstance that there are men like Lord Nuffield who give so freely of their wealth in order that the fullest benefits of science may be brought to those who suffer.

"According to Admiralty instructions," he was told, "our decks were cleared for action, and we were prepared to take British subjects against whatever resistance might have been offered by the Spaniards." In Marseilles I met another Englishman who had been evacuated from Sitges. "It was almost fantastic," he told me. "That same evening that we were taken aboard we were all given cocktails and then dinners, with the menu fully written out, and it might have been in a liner."

"All women occupied officers' quarters. Before we landed at Marseilles, the next morning, we were all served with a good English breakfast.

"Then before we went ashore we were asked to pay. Do you know how much? Four pesetas each, about 1s. 4d."

They say it's going to be cold . . .

July 82.0, August 81.7, September 80.6, October 78.2, November 69.4, December 62.9.

But don't imagine that the fifties and sixties are going to be our coldest temperatures. It has been as low as 32 degrees in January, 38.4 in February and 45.4 in March. Our low temperatures were recorded on January 18, 1893.

Every cold spell has a life history. First people to think about it are the chemists. Several had displays of cough lozenges, cold cure, and gargle as far back as September.

Next to catch on are the people who get colds themselves. There are one to two million colds during an average winter in Hongkong.

Wise ones stay at home (a sneeze can carry three feet). With plenty of hot drinks, aspirin, doses of salts, and gargles, colds last a couple of days. About a week after the beginning of the cold spell, office managers begin to count up the cost.

You can reckon that every cold costs some one at least $10.

No need to worry yet. Though evenings draw in till December, most of the cold spells come with the lengthening days of the new year. Not too much to say that 95 per cent. of flu cases occur then.

Anyway, a cold spell may be beneficial to you if it gives you a simple cold in the head. That's one of the surest forms of inoculation you can get.

Every cold spell has its epitaph. It usually runs: "To washing 45 handkerchiefs, 90 cents."

130th DAY of the WAR

ON Saturday, July 18, a bugle sounded the fall-in to a garrison of desperate men on the North Moroccan coast. That was at 2 a.m. On Monday the big story broke. Three Spanish Premiers in 24 hours. Cabinet arm workers as rebels land troops.

Tuesday, July 21.—Government claims victory. "Rebellion is crushed"—but other sources made it clear that war on a grand scale was raging throughout Spain.

July 22.—British warship saves 150 in war zone. Loyal Spanish crew kill insolent officers. "What shall we do with their bodies?" was radioed to Madrid. Historic answer: "Lower bodies overboard with respectful solemnity."

July 27.—Terror in Barcelona. Priests dragged to firing squads. A secret court brought the message, committing it to memory. It began: committing the days of the French Revolution. "Daily Express airplane flying Harold Pemberton to Algeciras, scattered Spanish fleet in panic."

July 29.—Submarines bottle up Morocco army. Frisco ranges. (This from Pemberton.) Captives hauled from prison to execution (Sefton Delmer from Burgos). All Britons ordered to leave Barcelona. British pilots offered £150 to fly airplanes to Spain. Daily Express air reporter warned our airmen off, but a round dozen went, and three, at least, were killed.

August 8.—British consul (at Algeciras) wrecked by shell. The consul told Pemberton: "The shell came roaring like an express train; its wife cut by flying glass; "It was all very exciting."

August 20.—Britain will not intervene; "Bar arms" flash to all ports. Also, Madrid Terror, inside story. (But Sidney Smith had to go well outside Madrid before he dared to write it.)

September 5.—510 hostages die as Iran falls. Communists in new Spanish Government, Caballero Premer.

September 9.—Daily Express reporter under hanging threat. Arrested as insurgent spy. (Sidney Smith took a risk for a Malaga story, got away with the goods.) Same day Sefton Delmer was expelled from Burgos for "derogatory remarks."

September 12.—Priest called to 1,200 in caverns of besieged fort. Gunners hold fire. Mass said in the ruins. The Alcazar had hit Page One.

September 13.—San Sebastian falls without a fight.

September 15.—Alcazar survivors held out after explosion wrecks fort. Girl troops moved down in charge of rats. Mine rock Toledo.

September 30.—Gallagher sends final full story as siege of Alcazar is raised. Women and children live 71 days on horseflesh diet. Dances held in rain of death. Next day: Gallagher sends world scoop pictures of the Alcazar relief.

October 15.—William Forrest telephones: Madrid front crumbling. Desperate task to get militia to fight, and later on, Madrid sacks army chief.

October 21.—Britain appeals to Spain to stop mass slaughter. Navy has since replied, quite sharply, "Yes, we have no hostages. They are all political prisoners."

October 27.—USSR sends arms ships to Spain.—Report on eve of London meeting.

November 2.—Bombardment of Madrid commences.

November 9.—Rebels enter outskirts of Spain's ancient capital.

November 15.—Frightful air raids over Madrid give a taste of what the next world war will be like.

November 20.—Bombs reduce Madrid to a shambles. General Franco declares blockade of Barcelona.

November 20 (to-day).—See Page 1. One hundred and thirtieth day of front page news.

The Navy looks after us . . .

NOW I write from St. Jean de Luz, and still the British Navy is at work.

Three destroyers arrived here a few days ago bringing from Bilbao women who had been held as hostages by the Government.

Every one of those women had found the first courtesy and comfort they had known for three months in those ships, Exmouth, Esk, and Escort.

After bringing in those refugees the ships remained in harbour one day. Now they have left for Pasajes, the port of San Sebastian.

"What are you going there for?" a Spanish refugee in St. Jean de Luz asked one of the officers.

"Oh!" said the officer, "when the Government abandoned Pasajes they blew up a cargo ship there, and now the wreck is blocking the channel. We have to go and see whether it is necessary to blow it up again to clear that channel. If so, we must get permission from the authorities and then make sure the channel is clear."

"What has that to do with the British Navy?" inquired the Spaniard.

"Well, British merchant shipping may need to use that channel to carry out its deliveries of coal, which is running low in San Sebastian, and we have to protect our merchant shipping," said the officer.

The Spaniard was not persuaded by this reasoning.

SPAIN in the last month has seen the British Navy first speeding away its own nationals, then offering its hospitalities to foreigners. But still at the same time it has carried out its routine task of charting, patrolling, and keeping a watchful eye on the troubled coasts of the country.

SOLDIER'S LOVE STORY THROUGH FOUR REIGNS

"MONEY MEANS NOTHING TO ME"

Lord Nuffield
On His
£1,250,000 Gift

Motor Magnate's First Ambition

Was to be a Surgeon

Lord Nuffield, head of Morris Motors, whose gift of £1,250,000 to Oxford University for medical research has created a record philanthropy, confessed recently that he was a bored man.

"One gets to the stage where one has achieved success, and then there is nothing more to do. I don't know if others can quite understand how a man can become bored in this way. I have had only the responsibility of looking after my own money."

"I can honestly say that money means nothing to me. I could just as easily go back to where I started in a bicycle shop. Perhaps I should be happier than I am now if I did."

"But, having earned the money, I want to see that I use it for the alleviation of suffering, and my opinion is that in medicine and surgery this country ought to lead the world."

BRITAIN WILL LEAD

Speaking of his gift, Lord Nuffield said the money would be available for the University at the need arose.

"Oxford is the finest teaching centre in the world for early medical training," he said. "Under this scheme, medicine and surgery throughout the whole country will benefit to such an extent that Great Britain will lead the world in this sphere."

"The crying need has been for teachers and for training after doctors have done their ordinary course. Under this scheme, at least 20 teachers, brilliant men who have had the benefit of the best teaching, will be available for other centres from Oxford."

"I think the reason for the lack of discoveries in the field of medicine to-day is due simply to this lack of teachers, and that, by supplying teachers, a great era of discovery in medical research may be opened."

"The existing medical teaching facilities at Oxford will be utilised under the scheme, but their basis will be broadened under the regime of the new Institute, which will probably be known as the Nuffield School of Medicine."

LOST TO TEACHING

Lord Nuffield continued: "The present position is that a brilliant young student at Oxford usually goes on to a hospital, where he gains his degree, and finally becomes a specialist; and is immediately lost to teaching. He becomes so busy going from one case to another that he cannot stop to see the results of his work, and, apart from his own practice, he has no chance of furthering his own learning."

"The object of the present scheme is to take men from the point where they would become lost to teaching. Their work must be done inside the University, and their job will be to teach other brilliant students. These will receive the best training from successful physicians or surgeons, who, in the past, have practically all been lost to teaching."

"There will have to be a number of Professorships, to be filled by the men in the country. These will be dropping a big income to work at Oxford for a small remuneration, but these men are to keep on their studies that they would prefer to come to the quietude of Oxford, where they can work without being worried by the details of a practice."

Lord Nuffield disclosed that his first ambition in life was to become a surgeon.

"There was not enough money for that," he said, "and so I had to take the next best thing—mechanics. I have found in conversation with many brilliant surgeons that they are mechanically-minded. No man can become an engineer unless he can use his hands, and I wanted to work with my hands."

Lord Nuffield, who said he thinks there can be no better work than the caring for those unfortunate enough to be in bad health, himself claimed to be fitter than he has been for many years. His recipe for health is to take rest whenever opportunity offers.

GOVERNOR ISSUES
FINAL APPEAL
FOUR POINTED QUESTIONS

His Excellency the Governor (Sir Andrew Caldecott) has issued the following final appeal in connection with the King George V. Memorial Fund:

Christmas is approaching with its numerous calls for generosity, and it seems desirable to close the King George V. Memorial Fund before it becomes one of too many claims on our charity. I therefore propose to close the subscription lists on Saturday, December 19th, and I ask every citizen of Victoria and Kowloon to put to himself the following questions:

(1) Have I fully appreciated the nature of the Memorial, which is that the thank-offerings of those who prospered under the late reign will be devoted to the recreation of poor people in crowded areas; so that

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

THE LOVE OF LIBERTY IS THE LOVE OF OTHERS, THE LOVE OF POWER IS THE LOVE OF OURSELVES.—William Hazlitt.

The P. and O. liner Conqueror bringing homeward mails, is now expected to arrive at noon on Friday and to sail at 5 p.m. the same day.

With injuries received when he was assaulted by other men in Caroline Hill, Mok Siu-fong, of No. 330 Lockhart Road, was taken to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday.

Tong Chau, a workman employed by the China Light and Power Company, was knocked unconscious when an electric light pole fell on him while at work at Pak Tong Au Tiu. He was removed to the Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

For stealing a roll of cotton cloth worth $0 from Chan Kin, a store-keeper, Chau Hung, 26, unemployed, was sentenced to one month's hard labour by Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning. Inspector T. O'Connor prosecuted.

An unemployed Chinese, Cheung Kwong-ming, 25, was brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning where he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a quantity of heroin pills. Revenue Officer Stephens asked for a week's remand which was granted. Bail in $500 was fixed.

At the Central Magistracy this morning, Det-Sergeant Pilkington, prosecuting officer in the case against Chan Tak-chol, 32, unemployed, who was charged on November 17 with cutting and wounding Ho Ting, a room boy of the Asia Hotel, asked for a further week's remand, stating that Ho Ting was still in hospital recovering from the wounds. The Magistrate Mr. K. Keen granted the remand. Bail in $500 was fixed.

A salesman, Tang Yee-sun, 36, appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning charged with having attempted to travel on the Shamshui-poo Ferry by using another man's monthly ticket. Defendant denied the charge, saying he had a monthly ticket but that he had used his friend's ticket by mistake. The case was remanded for 24 hours for further enquiry. Inspector A. Black of the Yaumati Ferry Company was the complainant.

RUNS Marries
The Girl He COURTED
In 1894

Here is a story of romance in the gentler spirit of the Victorian era. It began when the good Queen herself was on the throne. Through three reigns it languished. Now, with Edward VII on the threshold of his kingly career, it arrives at the traditional happy ending.

THE story opens in 1894, the year that the young Prince Edward Albert Christian of York, now Edward VIII of England, was born.

Private Ernest Angliss, 19 years old, of the parish of All Saints, Coventry, then a sleepy provincial town, was courtship—a fine, romantic fellow in waistcoat and blue.

Mary Ann Gutherford, a maid of 17, was his sweetheart. Soon the wedding bells were to ring.

But the young soldier's parents objected. Marriage, they said, would spoil his Army career. Young Ernest went to see service in India. On his return—perhaps,

So the soldier sailed without a bride. Years passed, and he wrote faithfully to his Mary Ann.

On Christmas Eve 1906 he came home, the wedding ring in his pocket. A shock awaited him. Mary Ann was already wed. His letters had never arrived. She thought he had forgotten her. Her soldier went away and later took

NOW 1936, and a strange new England.

On a summer day in June Ernest Angliss, now an elderly man, followed his wife's coffin to the grave.

By a strange coincidence, on that same day Mary Ann, now a middle-aged woman, stood at the newly dug grave of her husband.

ONE Sunday this month, in the parish church of All Saints, Coventry, an elderly couple were secretly wed. The bridegroom was Ernest Angliss, the bride that same Mary Ann he had courted in the days of Victoria the Good.

Hongkong's monument to King George will not be a lifeless statue of him but a living and permanent realisation of his desire for the health and happiness of his poorest subjects.

(2) Are the ninety thousand dollars that have already been raised the most that Hongkong can do?

(3) If not, can I add to the amount, even though my contribution be small?

(4) Or, having already given, can I give more?

TRAFFIC CASES

THREE SPEEDSTERS IN COURT

Chan Wal-foo, driver of private car No. 3350, was summoned before
Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy this morning, with dangerous driving in Hennessy Road on November 21. He admitted the offense.

Traffic Sergeant G. Yee said he was sitting in his car on the north side of Hennessy Road near Tonnochi Road at 11.15 a.m. on November 21, when he saw defendant's car pass by at a very fast speed. He followed and found that defendant was going at 35 miles per hour.
There were a lot of people on the road and defendant had to blow his horn continually. When defendant reached King's Road, he increased his speed to 40 miles per hour, and witness caught up with him by the Asia Petroleum Company installation. Defendant had three adults and a child with him in the car.

A fine of $50 was imposed.
A similar penalty was inflicted on
Yu Ki-cheung, driver of private car
No. 4188, who admitted speeding in the central area in Upper Albert
Road on November 23.

Traffic-Sergeant Appleton said he saw defendant coming up Garden Road at a fast speed and turn round the traffic constable at the top. If defendant had not braked, he would have collided with the wall. Defendant carried on through Upper Albert Road at a speed of 25 miles per hour, and was only pulled up by the traffic light at the top of Arbutneth Road.

Chan Kwai-ping, driver of lorry
No. 1112, sent a representative, who admitted a summons of speeding in King's Road at 40 miles per hour on November 21. Remarking that the road was pretty wide, the Magistrate imposed a fine of $15. Sergeant Appleton prosecuted.

NEW HOCKEY TOURNEY IS PROPOSED

POLICE PRIME-MOVERS
IN LATEST PROJECTSERVICE TEAMS WILL BE INVITED TO COMPETEPERMISSION MUST BE GRANTED
BY HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

YET another hockey tournament in Hongkong is contemplated. The instigators are the Police, and the proposed title of this competition is "The Services Hockey Tournament," in which the Police will be included as a Services team. It is hoped that the following teams will also participate:

Fleet Lower Deck Officers, Royal Navy
Battalion teams to include:
One from the Royal Artillery, one from the H.K.S.R.A., one from the Royal Engineers, one from the Royal Air Force, one from the Royal Welch Fusiliers and one from the Royal Ulster Rifles.

This I ascertained in an interview with the Police Hockey Club secretary, Sub-Inspector Tyler, during this week, when he also told me that as soon as the above mentioned teams have been informed of the suggested tournament, a meeting will be called and a committee formed with a view to running the competition.

It is hoped to get the thing organised and started within the next few weeks.

Mr. Tyler further intimated that he had forwarded a letter to the Hongkong Hockey Association about two months ago informing that body of the proposed tournament, but as yet no reply had been received.

I have since had a conversation with the secretary of the Hockey Association who says that when the Police applied for participation in the Inter-Section Tournament a few months ago, they signified their intention of starting a new tourney, but no request for permission to do so had been made to the Association. Hence he did not think a reply was necessary.

Perhaps it should be pointed out here that according to rules, the running of any tournament in the Colony is within the jurisdiction of the Hongkong Hockey Association, to which all Army and Navy teams are affiliated. Therefore I am unable to say how any such tournament as contemplated by the Police could materialise without first obtaining the consent of the Association.

The Royal Corps of Signals gained a fine victory in the MAMAK League last Sunday when they triumphed over K.I.T.C. the ex-champions by one goal scored. Lowe was the marksman and the point came in the first half.

The Signallers, realising that their opponents were not fully at home in a grass pitch, made full use of this, and forced the exchanges from the start.

K.I.T.C., who seemed to be at a loss without their leader, Avtar Singh, made rather feeble responses to the determined efforts of the Corps. When I penned my "eloquent" notes concerning Avtar Singh last week I did not realise that his absence would be so keenly felt.

The Indians took up the running at the start, but Pyara Singh, at centre-forward, indulged in some selfish play which saw several opportunities wasted. His attempts at dribbling through the whole of the defence were quickly and effectively dealt with by the Signallers, who shadowed him closely.

DIRECT METHODS

The Signallers, forsooth, though not so spectacular, indulged in more direct methods of approach, and these tactics were rewarded when Lowe netted with a terrific drive.

This lead inspired the Royal Corps and they kept the Indians on the defensive until the interval.

On changing over the K.I.T.C. forwards combined with better understanding, but Morgan and Walmsley were up to the mark and ended their lines admirably.

The Signals in turn attacked, and the exchanges became faster, with the ball travelling from end to end.

Towards the close the Indians applied pressure, but without success.

A. P. Sousa was the best K.I.T.C. forward but was sadly neglected.

If he received the ball often the result might have been different.

J. O. Pinto was a hard worker at inside right, and he was unlucky to have his goal-scoring shot nullified for "sticks."

On the whole, however, the Signals were the better side, being much more incisive in attack, and revealing superior stamina.

Tara Singh and Kurnall Singh played well in defence for the losers.

The Recreio attack failed to settle down and when Miss Silva and her colleagues made an attempt they were quickly checked by the timely interceptions of Miss A. Fowler and Mrs. Burke.

Miss Osmand, Miss Xavier and Mrs. Silva gave a good account of themselves, but could not cope with the fast-moving opposition.

Miss Barros, who played in goal, was hard pressed for practically the whole of the second half, but she saved her side from a heavier defeat.

Summed up, though, it can be said the Recreio team experienced an off-day.

Argonautas To Test Army Team

Another stage in the Inter-Section

Tournament will be reached on Saturday next when the Civilians, represented by the Argonautas, meet the Army (H.R.E.R.B.) on the U.S.R.C. ground, bally-off at 3.30 p.m.

Spectators are certain of a sparkling game. The soldiers will be at slight disadvantage in having to play on a turf surface, and they must also expect to find themselves pitted against a very clever team.

I rather think the Civilians will win.

THE BRAWN CUP

Schoolgirls Give Fine Display

C.B.S. SCORE FOUR TIMES

On the D.B.S. ground last Saturday, the Central British School "A" girls, proved far superior to the Diocesan Girls, winning their Brawn Cup encounter quite comfortably by four clear goals.

The C.B.S. attack made no mistake in front of goal, and were two up in less than 20 minutes. By the time the interval arrived they had established a three goal lead, and were completely in the ascendancy.

The scorers in this half were Miss A. Martin, Miss M. Booker and Miss Baxter.

The Diocesan girls were completely baffled by the hustling methods of their opponents, and it took them the whole of the first half to begin to interpret and to counter them. The second half saw a big improvement by the losers, and they instigated several dangerous raids, but some very doubtful unpling decisions robbed them of good openings.

Once again the advantage rule was ignored by the officials, and in consequence there was far too much whistle.

Miss H. Hoekler, Miss M. Churn and Miss E. Churn worked well together in the latter half of the game, but they were too well guarded by Miss M. McCaw at centre-half and Miss J. Booker at left-half to be very effective.

Miss Martin broke away very smartly ten minutes from the end of the game to register her second, and the Central British School's fourth goal.

Little Miss P. Dodd performed creditably as pivot and received able support from Miss E. Chang at right back. Miss J. Hall, in goal, was a trifle disappointing.

The Central British played well as a team, the Martin, Booker and McCaw sisters being outstanding.

LEAGUE CRICKET

The following have been selected to represent the Hongkong C.C. and XI in a League match against the Police R.C. on Saturday on the town ground:

A. K. Mackenzie (Capt.), C. C. Agnew, V. C. Bond, F. A. Dunnett, E. Bathurst, C. R. Cahagan, G. S. Chambers, R. M. King, W. Keith Robinson, W. Stoker and W. Wood.

Playing with Mrs. Ashton, she also reached the semi-final of the Colony open doubles, beating Mrs. W. M. Marsh and Miss M. Heap 6-0, 6-1.

Mrs. Ashton was also taking part in the Colony mixed doubles championship with her brother, M. W. Lo, but after winning a first round match, they scratch to H. D. Rumjahn and Mrs. Chiu Chun-chu, who thus enter the semi-final without playing a match. In this bracket Rumjahn and Mrs. Chiu meet E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Peacock.

Mrs. L. Starbuck, centre-half for the Y.M.C.A. ladies hockey team, who is a strong candidate for Interport honours this season.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Fincher And Mrs. Peacock Win Easily

NOW IN THE SEMI-FINAL

E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Peacock yesterday advanced to the semi-final of the Colony open mixed doubles tennis championship when, on the U.S.R.C. courts they defeated A. L. Sullivan and Mrs. W. E. Dowling in straight sets of 6-2, 6-1.

The winners held the upper hand from the start, and with Sullivan completely off his game, won the match with the greatest of ease.

Mrs. Peacock was in delightful form and drove powerfully from the baseline, while Fincher volleyed in his customary efficient manner.

The winners want to five-love in the second set and were never seriously extended.

MRS. LITTON IN TWO SEMI-FINALS

Successes In Tennis Championships

Mrs. J. L. Litton (Miss Enid Lo), former Colony tennis champion has won two matches in the open singles championship and has reached the semi-final.

In the first round she defeated Mrs. P. Ashton 6-1, 6-1 and in the second beat Mrs. K. E. Holmes 6-1, 6-1.

Playing with Mrs. Ashton, she also reached the semi-final of the Colony open doubles, beating Mrs. W. M. Marsh and Miss M. Heap 6-0, 6-1.

Mrs. Litton was also taking part in the Colony mixed doubles championship with her brother, M. W. Lo, but after winning a first round match, they scratch to H. D. USE THE ADVANTAGE RULE

Appeal To Umpires

WHISTLE TOO PREVALENT

Having watched a variety of local hockey matches for some considerable time, and especially during the current season, I have come to the conclusion that our umpires do not sufficiently observe the advantage rule.

This particularly applies to ladies' matches, several of which have been entirely ruined by too much whistling and consequent interruptions in the game.

It would not be out of place here to quote a statement on this advantage rule question.

"The advantage rule can never be sufficiently studied by umpires. It is impossible to specify the numerous occasions when the rule can be put into force, but remember that if you make a practice of delaying your decision for half a second, the advantage rule will often come into play automatically, and the decision which you were about to give, will be unnecessary.

"If the perpetrator of a foul is let go by reason of his foul, let his opponents keep their advantage by keeping your whistle silent. A foul which turns out to be an advantage to an opponent is as good as, and often a better reprisal than, a free hit."

Local hockey generally would benefit considerably if more of our umpires took notice of this advice.

FOOTBALLER EVERY CLUB WANTS TO SIGN

A player whom Arsenal and nearly every football club in the country would like to sign, recently made an important statement to the Sunday Chronicle.

The player is Tommy Walker, the famous Scottish star, and for the first time he disclosed his own personal inclinations following the desperate efforts made by Arsenal to sign him.

"I'M HUMAN"

"Would I like to play football in England?" asked the famous Hearts player, for whom a transfer fee of at least £12,000 has been asked.

And then, answering his own question, "Yes, I would."

"If I go to Arsenal it will be because Hearts and the London team have come to a satisfactory arrangement, and I hope an arrangement which will offer me better terms and wider scope."

"A footballer is just a human being, and if he can get more money by changing his firm, like the rest of human beings, he'll do it."

WILL BE A WRENCH

"But if the transfer goes through it will be a wrench to leave Tyne- castle for the Mecca of football."

"And while I say I would like to try English football, I am well aware of the fate that has overtaken famous players who have tried to set the Thames on fire."

"Yet that very fact makes me keen. You know what it means to dare a Scotsman!"

Punjabis Defeat Club At Marina Ground

Playing at the Marina ground Kowloon yesterday afternoon, the 1/0 Punjab Regiment defeated the Hongkong Club in their hockey encounter by three goals to nil.

The Punjabis were in fine form and their excellent combination and brilliant stick work featured the game. They won without any difficulty.

Two of their three goals were scored in the first half through L. Singh and G. Singh, and their third and last goal was netted by Lt. Walker, who received the ball from Lt. Genders well towards the end of the second half.

The Club players worked hard throughout the match but they did not seem to be able to hold their own against the Punjabis. Perhaps the hard sandy ground could account for this.

SCHOOL MATCH

D. B. S. JUNIOR TEAM BEATEN BY NINE WICKETS

Playing against the Ellis Kadourie Indian School yesterday, the Diocesan Boys' School junior cricket team made only 22 runs and were eventually beaten by nine wickets. None of their batsmen reached double figures.

K. M. Rumjahn, with four wickets for nine runs, Sahan Singh, with three for nine and Mohinder Singh with two for three, did the damage.

Thanks to an innings of 44 by K. M. Rumjahn, the Indian School passed their opponents' total with the loss of one wicket. They finally scored 93.

C. Mathews took three wickets for 18 runs and A. Lapsley three for 10.

MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE DECIDE IN FAVOUR OF NAVY

Points for the match in the Second Division between the Royal Navy and the Kowloon F.C., which should have been played on November 8, have been awarded to the Royal Navy by the Management Committee of the Hongkong Football Association.

It is to be his sole duty to say when the ball goes over the goal-line? If so, for the greater part of the season he will be totally unemployed. And if you say he shall assist, in addition to any other decision you run into the entanglement of deciding who is supreme in that area, the goal-judge or the referee.

IDENTIFICATION TEST

PROBLEM I.

Mrs. Scribbler's daughters were not very successful in their attempts to identify the portraits of famous poets. Mrs. Scribbler had put five portraits on the mantelpiece—those of Dryden, Byron, Keats, Shelley and Tennyson—and she invited each girl to write down the names of two of them. These were their answers:

Mabel: No. 2 is Byron, No. 3 Tennyson.

Gertie: No. 1, Browning, No. 2, Shelley.

Diana: No. 3 is Shelley, No. 5 is Browning.

Puss: No. 2 is Byron and No. 4 is Keats.

Sheila: No. 4, Keats, No. 1, Tennyson.

Each girl gave one correct and one incorrect answer.

What number did Mrs. Scribbler assign to each poet?

SPARE MOMENT PAGE

Do you know yourself? Here is a new kind of test. Try it out on yourself—or friends. Think over these situations and ask—

What would you do if . . .

... a friend, knowing that you detested gambling in any shape or form, had, for a joke, taken out and paid for in your name a sweepstake ticket which won a tremendous fortune? Would you—

- (a) claim the entire amount for yourself?
- (b) claim the money and devote it to anti-gambling propaganda?
- (c) let the friend have it?

... you found that a haughty nobleman, a neighbour of yours who always passed you by unnoticed, had fallen into the river and was in difficulties? Would you—

- (a) bury away gleefully?
- (b) refrain from lending him a hand for fear, since you had not been introduced, you would insult him?
- (c) appreciate that he was the type who would not deign to give you a civil word, but would promptly risk his own life for you if you were in danger?

... you were a woman, returning from a lecture on "The Superiority of Women to Men," enthusiastic but slightly fatigued, and found all the seats in the train occupied by men? Would you—

- (a) feel insulted if no one offered you a seat?
- (b) fervently pray that one would offer you his seat so that you might say, "I'm as capable of standing as any man, thank you?"
- (c) be only too willing at that moment to be thought the weaker vessel if only one of them would get up and let you sit down?

... Schooldays remind us of other bottles: the stone ones filled with ginger-pop. It's strange that ginger-beer never seems to taste so good as it did in those days! Then there are the lemonade, soda-water, lemon-squash—all the different kinds of mineral water bottles—including those with the little glass ball in the top which are in such great demand by marble-players.

These froth-blowing glass-blowers suggest another kind of bottle—the beer bottle: beer-coloured because long research proved that that was the kind of beer men prefer to see their beer through.

Claret bottles, burgundy bottles, champagne bottles, lager bottles, whisky bottles . . . beer, wine, spirit and similar bottles account for 10 per cent. of the output.

Bottles by the million—

we use them daily from infancy to old-age

Nobody knows how many millions of bottles there are in circulation. 1,500,000 new bottles are made in Britain each year.

What happens to them all? To begin where most people do begin, we must look in the nursery—to the baby's feeding-bottle. Glass-blowers who make these bottles drink as much as a gallon of beer during each shift, so thirsty is the work.

These froth-blowing glass-blowers suggest another kind of bottle—the beer bottle: beer-coloured because long research proved that that was the kind of beer men prefer to see their beer through.

Claret bottles, burgundy bottles, champagne bottles, lager bottles, whisky bottles . . . beer, wine, spirit and similar bottles account for 10 per cent. of the output.

For fun and fashion

Schooldays remind us of other bottles: the stone ones filled with ginger-pop. It's strange that ginger-beer never seems to taste so good as it did in those days! Then there are the lemonade, soda-water, lemon-squash—all the different kinds of mineral water bottles—including those with the little glass ball in the top which are in such great demand by marble-players.

The health of a nation can be judged by its bottle output figures. Doctors and chemists are good customers for bottles. Feminine fashion, too, influences the sale of bottles—scent bottles, nail-polish bottles, hair-lotion bottles—there's a big demand for them all.

What other bottles are there? Milk bottles of course! And the store cupboard displays a galaxy of bottles. Bottled fruits, bottled sweets, bottled pickles, bottled salad oil, bottled sauce, bottled beef extract . . . the list goes on.

The vacuum flask is another special bottle, useful for giving you a hot drink when it is difficult to get one otherwise.

Even when the day is over we are not finished with bottles. Up to bed with us comes the hot-water bottle.

To Chart Currents

Life would be inconceivable without bottles. Think of the part the ink bottle plays in human affairs.

By floating bottles out to sea and watching where they go, experts have been able to chart ocean currents. By floating bottles out to sea castaways have saved their lives.

The American Harness Asiatic Expedition sent an SOS this way when the members of the party found themselves stranded between Borneo and the Philippines last year.

There is another side to the picture. When bottles are broken they may cause serious injuries, punctures and road accidents. Left in dry undergrowth in hot weather they start fires.

"Oh, come on and have dinner with us. This is my house, isn't it? What do I care how mad the wife gets?"

EGYPTIAN TREATY APPROVED NO DIVISION IN HOUSE OF LORDS

London, Nov. 25.
The motion for ratification of the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty of Friendship and Alliance, which was passed in the House of Commons last night without a division, was debated to-night in the House of Lords.

Lord Plymouth, in moving the motion for ratification, said there had been good will and give-and-take on both sides in reaching the agreement, and he honestly believed that if the Treaty was implemented in the spirit in which it was negotiated, an era of prosperity and fruitful co-operation between Great Britain and the Egyptian people would follow.

In reviewing the principal provisions of the Treaty, he remarked that the obligation placed on the high contracting parties to assist each other in time of war meant that the British Government must support the Egyptian Government in defending Egypt against invasion. It was, of course, for Egypt to defend its own territory, but the British Government would assist in that task under this Treaty, as, on ally, Egypt did not undertake to send Egyptian troops outside Egypt to protect British territory. That was more than could be asked of Egypt at present.

For the defence of the canal, the forces of the British Empire and of Egypt were to act in co-operation. The canal, Lord Plymouth added, was Egyptian territory, and the defence of the canal, as that of other parts of her territory, was an Egyptian responsibility in which, as an ally, Britain could co-operate.

Leaders of the Opposition parties warmly supported the motion.

LABOUR APPROVAL

Lord Snell (Labour) said the Treaty sought to end an old and trying embarrassment and to begin a long, happy and increasingly advantageous relationship. After paying a tribute to the services of Lord Crumey, Mr. Arthur Henderson and Lord Lloyd in regard to Egypt, Lord Snell said that it was worthy of note that at a time of repression of liberties throughout the world England should choose this moment to seal a Treaty of self-government and he hoped their principles of democratic freedom would be justified by results.

The Marquis of Crewe (Liberal) expressed keen satisfaction at the conclusion of the Treaty. It was something gained to be able to look at the map with a confident hope that Egypt would prosper in future in conditions of permanent peace.

Lord Lloyd (Conservative) criticised certain details of the military clauses, but on the whole welcomed them cordially. Concluding, Lord Lloyd said he believed Egypt would be an honourable and faithful ally.

After further speeches, Lord Plymouth replied and the motion was carried without a division.—British Wireless.

YOUNG ANNAMITE CHARGED

ALLEGED FORGERY OF CHEQUE

A young Annamite student, Huu Huu Chinh, aged 24, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate this morning with (a) forging the name of Mrs. Leung Tai-ying on a valuable security, namely a travellers' cheque for £5 sterling, with intent to defraud and (b) uttering the forged travellers' cheque, knowing the name to be forged.

The complainant was named as Mrs. Leung Tai-ying, residing at the Luk Kwok Hotel, Gloucester Road. Defendant, who spoke in French through an interpreter, said in answer to the charges, that he did not forge the name on the cheque, but that another person had done so. He had obtained the cheque from Messrs. Thomas Cook and Sons, with the idea of handing it over to the lady when he met her. He did not know the name on the cheque had been forged, and, if he had known, he would not have touched the cheque.

Detective-Inspector A. E. Carey asked that a date be fixed for hearing of the case. He said defendant was a student passing through Hong Kong on his way back to Annam.

Defendant was remanded until 2.30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 1, and was allowed bail in the sum of $1,000.

POLISH SUBJECT IMPRISONED

CAME HERE WITHOUT PASSPORT

Victor E. Kalish, alias Carrash, 21, a 21-year-old Polish subject, was brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with having entered the Colony on or about November 19 without a valid passport.

Det-Sergeant Russell stated that defendant was taken into custody yesterday when he went to the Hong Kong Benevolent Society for help. Defendant came to the Colony from Canton, and had for the past few years roamed around China, begging for a living. He had had trouble with the Tientsin and Shanghai Police. A prison sentence followed by an expulsion order would meet the case.

Defendant was sentenced to two months' hard labour, with an expulsion order to follow.

TRIBUTE PAID TO JESUIT

FOR FATHER DANIEL FINN

Indicative of the high esteem in which Hongkong held the late Rev. Father Daniel Finn, a.s., who died in Europe three weeks ago, was the big attendance of distinguished non-Catholic mourners who attended the requiem mass for the repose of his soul in the Catholic Cathedral this morning.

Among those who attended was His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, who took his seat with Sir William Hornell, Vice-Chancellor of the University, near the impressive catafalque which was representative of the dignity of the priesthood.

Celebrant of the mass was the Rector of the Cathedral, the Rev. G. M. Spada, who was assisted by the Rev. Father Plenio as Deacon and the Rev. Father Brookes as sub-Deacon.

The choir was composed of seminarians from the Cathedral and the Regional Seminary, Aberdeen, where the late Father Finn was posted.

Also in the sanctuary were clergy representing the Jesuit, Spanish, Italian, French and American missions in Hongkong.

Among those present were the Chief Justice (Sir Atholl MacGregor), the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice J. J. Hayden), Dr. L. T. Ride, Dr. G. A. C. Herklots, Prof. L. Forster, Mr. W. Schofield (Chief Magistrate), Chev. J. M. Alves, M. Lurquin (French Consul), Mr. T. Murphy (Assistant Director of Criminal Intelligence) and Capt. W. J. R. Clegg, A.D.C. to the Governor.

FUNERAL ORATION

In the panegyric to Father Finn, the Rev. Father G. Byrne, a.s., Superior of the Jesuit Order in Hongkong, said the Jesuit Fathers would miss one of the kindest and most genial of companions.

"That the sense of loss has been realised by others than his intimate associates is testified by the presence in this Church to-day of such a representative gathering of the citizens of Hongkong," declared Father Byrne.

Father Finn was a classical scholar, concluded Father Byrne. His academic degrees marked him as a distinguished one, and he was a student of art, an educationalist and an archaeologist. But all these things were no more than phases of different activities undertaken by a tireless worker for the noblest of causes, without the inspiration of which he would have dropped them one by one.

"OUR POOR" DAY STREET SALE OF ROSES.

Each year, some weeks before Christmas, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul "make a popular appeal for help for the poor by a street sale of roses. The appeals of the Society have been given public notice recently, as the annual bazaar was held only a month ago, but this Rose Day is the appeal to everyone to give a little—for the sake of those who may have almost nothing.

It is at the beginning of winter that the needs of the poor are most apparent, and, if, as we read in the Telegraph a few nights ago, this year may be a record one for cold, this

LINDBERGH SAFE AT SEALANDS

R.A.F. REPORTS HIS LANDING

Chester, Nov. 25.
Officers of the Sealand Royal Air Force Aerodrome have confirmed that Colonel Charles Lindbergh, who had not been reported for twenty-four hours after taking off from Baldonnel Aerodrome in Ireland, landed yesterday at 4 p.m.

This announcement ended the mystery regarding the noted aviator's whereabouts.

The R.A.F. officers, however, declined to state whether Colonel Lindbergh made a forced landing.—United Press.

FOG-BOUND BRITAIN

TRAFFIC IN MANY PARTS DISRUPTED

London, Nov. 25.
Many cities in England have been fog-bound during the past few days. Shipping has been held up at Liverpool for five days, whilst trains arriving at the town have been delayed for hours, traffic being almost brought to a standstill yesterday.

In Birmingham, two trains collided in a dense fog, a number of passengers being injured.

London is also experiencing fog, although it has not reached the "pen soup" standard. Traffic has been disorganized in many places in London.—Telestar Special.

DOCTORS SAVE SIAMESE TWIN

CUT FREE FROM DEAD BROTHER

New York, Nov. 25.
Surgeons again operated on the surviving Siamese twin, Simplicio, for the reconstruction of a vital portion of his body which he formerly shared with his dead brother, Lucio. Lucio died yesterday of pneumonia, but throughout his illness, Simplicio, bound to his brother's side with living tissue, was perfectly well. Immediately Lucio ceased to breathe, doctors cut through the tissue which bound the boys.

Simplicio's condition is said to be very good.—United Press.

makes it all the more necessary to help those who suffer most when the cold comes.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul always bases its appeal for support on two things: the first, that it can, by its members' familiarity with the poor, ensure that the help which it bestows goes to those who are really deserving of it, and the second, that it does not discriminate on any basis of race or religion when it assists the poor. A third might be added—that it has reduced expenses to a minimum, so that practically every cent that it receives goes directly to the poor. The justice of these claims is well known. They make the Society an organisation well worthy of support—especially when support is so easy, merely the buying of a rose on "Our Poor Day"—Contributed.
